ITALY BANISHES 20,000 JEWS

By FRANK GERVASI

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ROME, Sept. 1—Expulsion within six months of all Jews domiciled in Italy since 1919 was officially decreed by Premier Mussolini today.

The order will affect 20,000 of the 40,000 Jews registered in Italy and will apply regardless of whether they are Italian citizens or not.

From this date onward, foreign Jews will be forbidden to establish residence in Italy.

Mussolini's sweeping order, climax of a steadily-mounting Italian anti-Semitic campaign, was announced following a meeting of the council of ministers.

Acting in his capacity as minister of the interior, Il Duce put his personal signature and seal to the expulsion decree, far sterner than any enacted by the Nazi regime in Germany or Austria.

The order will apply to all Jews who came to this country and established residence here after January 1, 1919. The exact num-

Rip Hide Off Dixie Davis

By EDWIN C. HILL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 — As the trial of James J. Hines neared the day's close, Defense Counsel Lloyd A. Stryker was ripping large pieces of hide from the shrinking form of Dixie Davis.

It was a spectacle curiously like the amusements which delighted Roman mobs in the Coliseum when they tossed an early Christian to the lions—not that Mr. Davis can be classed as such, but the analogy is striking.

Double-crosser, liar, associate of thugs and killers—these were only a few of the blasting accusations which Stryker hurled at young Davis. And the lawyer-witness (for here we have the extraordinary spectacle of lawyer against lawyer) admitted every wicked charge.

He admitted it without turning

F. D. R. Warning To Hitler Hinted

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Sections of the British press praised the United States' interest in the Czechoslovak-German crisis today and one newspaper predicted President Roosevelt might send a warning to Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Commenting on American Ambassador Joseph Kennedy's visits to the foreign office and No. 10 Downing street, Tuesday and Wednesday, the influential Yorkshire Post said:

"The conclusion is drawn that President Roosevelt is ready if need be to make a new declaration warning Germany of the dangers of seeking a violent solution of the Sudeten German problem."

Observing that such a declara-

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 1 (AP)—Reichfuehrer Hitler today summoned Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and several army generals to confer with Konrad Henlein, leader of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten Germans, at the fuehrer's mountain retreat near here. The outcome of the conference was expected to be either acceptance or rejection of the Czechoslovak government's latest proposals for solution of the Sudeten conflict.

Davis Brands Self Perjurer

a hair, bold as brass. It was the most-amazing example of impudent self-possession which ever ever was noted in a criminal trial. Take this for instance.

Mr. Stryker—Mr. Davis, have you any regard for an oath?

Davis—I haven't had until now—I have now.

Mr. Stryker—I ask you again—have you ever had any regard for an oath?

Davis—I have committed perjury many times.

This electrical colloquy occurred when Stryker began to warm up and get into his stride. He had handled Dixie very gently at first, in that deceptive mock-courtesy manner which he knows so well how to employ. It was in this early part of the cross examination that we got once more the astonishing double exposure of Jimmy Hines as Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

DEVIL TO ANGEL

Prosecutor Dewey—No mean artist when it comes to free hand caricaturing—had sketched Hines with horns and a spike tail, and filled his mouth with fangs. He had smeared him with all the wickedness conceivable except homicide.

Now arose another competent artist in the person of Mr. Stryker who, with assistance of the delectable Davis, pictured Jimmy Hines as the good angel of his community; as a kindly, benevolent old chap, who loved to lead thousands of children into the park and feed them ice cream and pop corn, and who loved to give big theatre parties for the kids and call in for their entertainment such well known artists as Eddie Cantor, Harry Hershfield and he thought, Al Jolson.

This portrait of Mr. Hines depicted him as a saintly old boy practically ready for beatification.

It is up to the jury to decide which one of these masterpieces it cares to hang in its private gallery.

LIED ABOUT SCHULTZ

Davis admitted that he wanted Hines' friendship—had eagerly sought to get in right with the political master by contributing to Hines' pet clubs, the big neighborhood parties Hines staged for children and the Christmas parties Jimmy put on in his district.

Davis also admitted he perjured himself when he was questioned after Schultz was killed in October, 1935.

"You weren't in fear of a dead man, were you?" asked Stryker.

"I wasn't in fear of Schultz, no," answered the witness.

Davis frankly admitted his conscience didn't bother him on the occasions he committed perjury.

"I was protecting a lot of people," said Davis, explaining why he lied before the grand jury.

The court ordered that remark stricken from the record. Judge Pecora admonished ex-Lawyer Davis, saying, "you know that's improper, as a lawyer."

"I'm not trying to be a lawyer on the witness stand," said Davis, meekly.

Stryker wanted to know if it wasn't a fact that he was "a nice looking fellow" in 1932. Davis replied:

"I'll let you decide that."

SOUGHT HINES' FRIENDSHIP

He acknowledged that he is a "bit more corpulent now."

The witness said he was 26 years old when he first met Hines.

Davis admitted he wanted to make the acquaintance of Hines and that he "may have joined the Monongahela Democratic Club in 1931."

Q—There came a time when you were desirous of securing a political appointment for a member of your family? A—Yes, in 1934, for my brother-in-law, Hyman Wendroff as assistant district attorney.

Q—You spoke to Mr. Hines

'Purge' Faces New Triple Test

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Intensification of President Roosevelt's purge campaign was seen today as the heaviest primary election month of 1938 began with three major defeats chalked up against the Roosevelt administration and three straight-out New Deal contests yet to be decided.

Administration lieutenants hope that primaries in Maryland, Georgia and New York will offset reverses suffered by the President in the victory of Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith in South Carolina and the defeat of Senator William G. McAdoo in California, following New Deal Senator James P. Pope's defeat by Representative D. Worth Clark, Conservative Democrat.

SHERIDAN DOWNEY

Democratic Senators Herbert Hitchcock of South Dakota and George L. Berry of Tennessee lost renomination battles, but support of the President was not an issue.

Most politicians agree that some of the remaining primary contests will involve the President's prestige even more than any already held.

The President has denounced by name Senators Walter George of Georgia and Millard Tydings of Maryland, and Representative John O'Connor of New York. He will continue his campaign against Tydings Monday by speaking in Maryland for the New Deal Senatorial candidate, Representative David J. Lewis.

The Georgia test will come on September 14, two days after the Tydings-Lewis race is settled. The President has said he hoped Senator George would be defeated by Lawrence Camp.

The third direct test, on September 20 in the 16th Congressional District in New York, will have Representative O'Connor opposed by James H. Fay, who has Presidential endorsement. O'Connor, chairman of the House rules committee, is seeking both Republican and Democratic nominations.

Senatorial contests will be decided in 14 states this month.

Jail Official Near 'Bake Death' Cells

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1 (AP) — Deputy Warden Frank Craven today told a "blue ribbon" coroner's jury he had been within 20 feet of the Philadelphia County prison's "Klondike" punishment cells the night before four convicts were found "baked to death."

Craven, taking the witness stand at the resumption of an inquest into the deaths, did not say whether he heard any commotion. Previously convicts told of the men screaming in pain and begging for mercy during a "night of horror" as the cells grew hot from steam in a battery of radiators.

Craven testified he did not visit the "Klondike" during the three nights and two days of the prisoners' confinement and had come near it only once on Sunday night, Aug. 21, when he was putting his automobile in a garage.

The four bodies were found Monday morning.

Craven said he issued the order that put the first four of the 25 men in the isolation cells.

Under questioning by Assistant District Attorney Boyle, Craven said it was an unwritten rule that convicts should be given a hearing before being placed in "Klondyke." The practice was suspended two weeks ago, however, because of an "emergency," he said.

WARDEN W. B. MILLS

The emergency was a hunger strike of 600 convicts.

Craven added there had been only one other occasion, in 1934, when men were sent to the punishment cells without hearing.

Warden William B. Mills testified yesterday before Coroner Hersch and the jury that Guard Sergeant James Hart was "responsible" for turning on the heat.

HUNT PENNEY CLUE IN GRAVE

AUBURN, Me., Sept. 1—In expectation that his grave may yield the solution to the murder of John W. Penney, an order for exhumation of the prosperous filling station owner's body was today issued by Frank T. Powers, Androscoggin county attorney.

Arrangements were made for Dr. Timothy A. Leary, Boston medical examiner, to be in Auburn tomorrow when the slain man's sealed crypt in Mechanics Falls Cemetery is opened.

Dr. Leary will be in charge of the pathological examination, aided by Dr. Arch Morrill of the Maine state laboratories and Dr. Julius Gottlieb, chief pathologist of the Central Maine General Hospital.

The purpose of the examination is to determine if the fatal wounds inflicted when Penney was brutally beaten to death last May 18 were made by blows from the butt of a pistol.

The wounds will be compared with those which caused the death of Dr. James G. Littlefield, slain South Paris physician, for whose murder former Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll is now serving a life sentence.

School Flag Pledge Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1—It is not unconstitutional to compel pupils in public schools to salute and pledge allegiance to the flag.

On the contrary, the Supreme Court of the State of California unanimously today held such a salute stimulated lasting affection and respect for the government and institutions of the United States.

The court denied reinstatement in the Fremont school of Sacramento to 12-year-old Charlotte Gabrielli until she should accede to the board of education's ruling compelling her to salute and pledge allegiance to Old Glory.

Typhoon Deaths Mount in Japan

TOKYO, Sept. 1 (INS)—The tolls of death and damage resulting from a terrific typhoon which swept eastern Japan mounted rapidly today, with 30 persons known to have been killed and scores injured.

Numerous ships were reported aground or in distress tonight off the Japanese coast as the storm blew itself out over Yamagata prefecture.

In the Tokyo region alone 30,000 houses were flooded. Damage was estimated at $15,000,000.

Women's Search Ends in Grief:

Missing Man Jailed as Burglar

A two-month search his aging mother and young wife had been making for Rene J. Charest, 25, of Ashland street, Somerville, ended unhappily today.

Threat No. 2 for Two

WARNED AGAIN—Mutilation attempt against Irving Baker and arrest of Dr. Kent Berry bring second terrorist note to Mrs. Baker, shown with her children, Ted and Janet, in Olympia, Wash., home. Notes say: "If you value your children, forget the charge on Berry." G-men are investigating.

International News Photograph Service

No longer "missing," Charest was under lock and key in East Cambridge jail, formally charged with five burglaries and accused of at least 20 more.

Captured at gunpoint in a Malden house into which he had allegedly broken, he was held in $10,000 in Malden district court for hearing tomorrow.

SAFE BUT DISGRACED

Mrs. Alice Charest, his mother, said:

"Rene's wife, Mary, and I have been trying to find some trace of him ever since he left home here last July.

"I suppose we ought to be glad to know he's safe. But it's a shock to learn he's brought disgrace on us all.

"He'd better not come back here and let me get my hands on him.'"

WIFE, BABY TO FORGET

The younger Mrs. Charest was with her mother-in-law in the Ashland street home.

"Rene and I have a baby son," she said. "I've had a hard time getting along since my husband went away. I can't imagine what came over him.

"He used to work steady in the navy yard. He got hurt there. Maybe that unsettled him. He had a WPA job later, here in Somerville, but he didn't stick to that.

"No, I didn't go to see him in court. I guess baby and I better try to forget him."

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 1 (INS)—Fourteen big navy patrol bombing planes, enroute from San Diego to Panama, were forced down today in the gulf of Fonseca on the west coast of Central America, according to a radio dispatch received here.

The dispatch, garbled considerably in transmission, indicated the bombers landed because of shortage of fuel.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Madeleine Edison Sloane of West Orange, daughter of the late Thomas A. Edison, today became a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from New Jersey's 11th district.

Trio Denies Guilt In Baker Kidnap

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 1 (AP)—Dr. Kent W. Berry and two other men held in the "revenge abduction" of Irving Baker, former Coast Guard officer, pleaded innocent today to charges of first degree kidaping and assault.

The doctor, William K. McAlson, James Reddick and Robert Smith are accused of beating Baker for the latter's alleged attentions to Berry's wife. Smith pleaded innocent previously.

Meanwhile G-men continued to probe kidnap threats against Baker's two children.

Federal agents entered the case after a second letter threatening Baker's children was delivered through the mails.

"This is your last warning," the letter read. "Follow orders in last note, or else."

It referred to a previous note tied to a rock and thrown through Baker's window, threatening harm to six-year-old Janet and 12-year-old Ted Baker unless the father "forgot the charges" against Dr. Berry.

Smuts' Guest Smut's Guest

Robert E. Thomas, Hollywood bit actor and disowned "son," secluded himself in the home of the late May Yohe today as the former stage beauty's ashes awaited disposal according to her last wishes that they be scattered out on the Atlantic.

Thomas at one time sought to have the courts declare the internationally renowned actress as his mother. His petition was denied.

Nevertheless, he sent flowers labeled "Mother—Bob" and came here for the funeral services.

Today his host in the Back Bay apartment was May Yohe's husband, Captain Jan A. Smuts, Boer War hero, whom she married.

He may accompany Captain Smuts Saturday when the latter will carry May Yohe's ashes to Cape Cod, there to dispose of them as she desired.

Harvard Aide, Wife Sail On Africa Reptile Hunt

On the first leg of a journey which will take them to the Ubangi region of the Congo for a year, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loveridge of Cambridge sailed today on the Anchor liner California from East Boston.

Professor Loveridge is curator of the Harvard museum of comparative zoology and this is his fourth trip to the heart of Africa to study reptiles and amphibians.

Others embarking on the liner were Mr. and Mrs. Orlo William Bond of Cambridge. He is an company executive at Karachi, India. They were accompanied on the return trip by their children, Diana, 8, and Marjorie, 4.

Bound for preparatory schools in Ireland and Scotland, respectively, were Gabriel and Irene Reddy of Newton, and Elinor Landgraf, formerly of Dedham, now of Warren, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gorman of Brighton, with their four children, sailed to take up permanent residence in Cork, while Miss Ellen Reilly of Roxbury left to take up a clerical position in the same city.

Garment Tieup Called 'Illegal'

A garment industry spokesman today declared the current Kneeland street garment strike was "illegal" as mediators met to restore peace in the troubled zone and police were booking the 73d picket to be arrested.

"The present strike is in violation of law," asserted Atty. Samuel Silverman, counsel for a manufacturer involved in the employer-employe dispute.

"The only issue involved in the present strike," he continued, "is the demand on the part of the union that the manufacturers sign an agreement for a closed shop, even though their employes have no desire to belong to the union.

"The highest courts of the land have repeatedly ruled that a union has no right to picket an employer's place of business to compel him against his wishes to enter into a closed shop agreement."

Meanwhile, at the Parker House, federal conciliator Ada Weinstock, Julius Hochman, vice-president of the New York dress council, Philip Kramer, garment union executive and employers' representatives sat down in an attempt to restore peace in the industry.

Observers described the situation as "tense," and police and workers alike awaited word from the arbitration meeting.

Union members revealed the present strike is bringing pressure on three non-union companies in one building. If they are persuaded to adopt the 35-hour week more non-union firms may be the object of strike pressure.

a check for $40 on the Indian Head National Bank of Nashua, N. H., he said, he did so without hesitation.

The check, Smith said, "bounced."

Even so, Jones might have escaped arrest, for the time being at least, except that yesterday he telephoned to Smith and asked him if he'd cash another check, this one for $35.

EX-STUDENTS VICTIMS

Smith notified Inspector O'Brien and Sergeant Dowe, and they were waiting for Smith when he came in.

He told them, they said, that he was a "transportation expert," living in a highly reputable hotel in Boston, and that he formerly was a faculty member of the University of New Hampshire.

Some of the victims of his allegedly worthless checks, according to police, are former students, others older friends.

Jones, according to word received in Lawrence, is wanted on bad check charges in Portsmouth, Manchester, Nashua and Milford, N. H.; Worcester, Mass., and New Britain, Ct.

Inspector O'Brien said Jones told him he met some of his alleged victims in North Station, Boston. Several of them, O'Brien said Jones told him, were former business associates.

Already, three warrants for Jones' arrest, from other cities, are on hand in Lawrence, ready to be served when he emerges from jail.

In court today, Jones made no effort to defend himself. According to Inspector O'Brien, he said, when arrested, that he passed the checks because he "simply needed the money."

Nurse's Pluck Gives Hurt Man Chance For Life

A seriously injured Elevated motorman was given better than an even chance of recovery at Forest Hills Hospital today due to the quick wit, pluck and skill of Miss Olga Ollen, 25, City Hospital nurse.

The motorman was John Wiltshire, 66, of Monument street, Medford struck by a train at Forest Hills Elevated station, who lay bleeding to death in the pit until the plucky nurse saved his life.

JUMPED TO AID

Miss Ollen, who discounted all credit for her aid, jumped into the pit after Wiltshire, who, unnoticed by the motorman of an approaching train, was knocked down as he crossed the tracks.

The nurse ripped open his trouser leg, and applied a tourniquet fashioned from his necktie when she learned the seriousness of his injuries.

When police arrived, Miss Ollen supervised his transfer to the ambulance and then rode to the hospital at his side, holding the tourniquet in place.

PRAISED BY DOCTOR

Doctors at Forest Hills Hospital were high in their praise of her deed and said the victim would probably recover as a result.

Miss Ollen, who lives in Woodlawn street, Jamaica Plain, said she was only applying the lessons she had learned in training.

Rules Carens' 2 Jobs Legal

Attorney-General Paul A. Dever today issued an opinion that James F. Carens legally may be mayor of Newburyport and a special justice of the Newbury district court at one and the same time.

"The provisions of the constitution against plurality of office and incompatibility of offices have no references to city or town offices and in my opinion there is not necessary incompatibility . . . though doubtless Mr. Carens as special justice would be disqualified from sitting on cases to which the city of which he is mayor is a party," Dever said.

Carens' nomination as special justice has been held up pending the opinion.

Hurley Flays Job Aid Snarl

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Swinging into the western counties on his campaign tour, Governor Charles F. Hurley today scored the outgoing Legislature on its unemployment relief policies in a noon speech to 700 workers at Hotel Wendell, Pittsfield.

The chief executive expects to spend two days in that area with voters of Berkshire, Hampshire and Franklin counties as objectives.

"Had my program for the relief of unemployment been adopted, thousands of our workless citizens who are in dire need would long before this have been given employment and prospects of steady work to come," he told his workers.

"Instead," he added, "the Republican-dominated Legislature butchered every worthwhile and adequate measure I submitted, derided the appeals of reputable leaders of organized labor and turned a deaf ear to the pleas of the work-starved men and women of Massachusetts."

SPEECHES SLATED TONIGHT

The governor, seeking nomination for a second term against three strong Democrats plans to deliver one of the major speeches of the campaign at Hotel Wendell tonight.

The governor's campaign committee today announced endorsements by The Jewish American Citizens Club of Massachusetts, the East Boston Italian American Club and the Democratic city committee, of Brockton.

The governor's trip followed attacks upon his administration at Greater Boston rallies by Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly, who seeks promotion to the governor's chair and former Governor James M. Curley, who wants to return to the office he held in 1934 and 1935.

Curley is due to speak tonight at Natick, Framingham and Marlboro. The former governor has moved his headquarters from the Parker House to the Carney Building, 43 Tremont street, where the entire fifth floor has been taken over. The move was made to center all units in one building.

Kelly is scheduled for four Boston rallies tonight, starting with an open air gathering at Blue Hill and Woodrow avenues, Mattapan.

RUSSELL'S DAUGHTERS AID

From there he will go to the Dorchester High School for Girls, Codman square; the South Boston Municipal building and then address the United Colored Voters of Boston at 830 Tremont street, South End.

Proof of the unequalled interest of Boston voters in the coming primary contests came today with announcement that 334,859 men and women, largest number on record, were registered to ballot September 20.

From July 1 to last night, when registration for the primary closed, 26,296 persons were added to the Boston voting list.

The total of Bostonians registered in the primaries is greater by 15,127 than the previous high mark and was said to be the third largest enrollment in the city's history for any kind of election.

Of voters on the lists declaring party affiliation, 173,189 were Democrats, 47,844 Republicans and 41 Union party members.

'Jim' Roosevelt May Yet Vote

James Roosevelt, who failed to register yesterday, won't be eligible to vote in the primaries, but will still be able to vote in the November elections—if he registers in October.

That was the announcement by Framingham election officials today. They said they attached no significance to young Roosevelt's failure to register yesterday, except that probably he did so deliberately to avoid putting himself on a political "spot."

James and his wife, the former Betty Cushing, were at their summer cottage at Little Boarshead, near Rye Beach, N. H., yesterday.

NAVY PLANES GROUNDED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (INS)—Eighteen navy planes scheduled to participate in the national air meet at Cleveland were ordered grounded today because of defective propellers.

Hint Roosevelt To Warn Hitler

tion would be of tremendous value, the paper added:

"The President may, however, at least decide to see first whether the situation takes a turn for the better in the next few days. Should events take the reverse course, intervention from Washington would be practically certain."

The newspaper suggested that a declaration by President Roosevent that "once a war started no one could tell how widely it would spread" would be of help in easing the present situation, an outgrowth of the Nazi-supported Sudeten German minority's demands for autonomy in Czechoslovakia.

KENNEDY TO CALL F. D. R.

The News Chronicle praised the attitude of the United States.

"Another encouraging sign is the continued interest taken by the United States in the Central European problem," it said.

"It would be a mistake to expect the United States to act other than slowly, but enough has been said to show where her sympathies lie and how they may develop. Even so much is a valuable factor for peace."

Ambassador Kennedy was understood to have booked a telephone call to President Roosevelt today in order to report directly to him on the situation.

(Yesterday Ambassador Kennedy told the Boston Evening American, in a transatlantic phone interview, that America should "Keep cool—don't worry" and things aren't so bad after all in Europe.)

European dispatches today bore out the lessening of tension in the foreign situation which Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy predicted yesterday in an exclusive trans-Atlantic telephone interview with the Boston Evening American.

The United States envoy stated there was no undue cause for alarm and "conditions were not as bad as they may seem"—a revelation which was confirmed today in news comment from both London and Paris.

Air Raid Guns Mounted To Protect Berlin

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (INS)—Nervous Berliners had a new scare today when anti-aircraft guns were mounted at strategic points in the capital.

The official explanation was that "air defense exercises will take place today and tomorrow."

Meanwhile Hitler remained at Berchtesgaden in consultation with Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader, as the Nazi press reopened its attacks on alleged Czech "tyranny."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbesl newspaper, Der Angriff, published an open letter to Viscount Runciman, British mediator, demanding he visit Czech jails to determine the actual plight of Sudetens.

Henlein was expected to ask Hitler's advice on whether the Sudeten Germans should accept the cantonization plan advanced by Prague as a basis for further negotiations toward solution of the crisis.

On Hitler's reply, many circles believed, hung the future history of Europe—perhaps for decades to come.

It was understood Hitler would proceed direct to Nuremberg on Monday to attend the Nazi party's Congress, Germany's annual mammoth show.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH

HOLYOKE, Sept. 1—After three futile attempts to kill himself, Maurice P. Hamel, 50, Manchester, N. H., was dead today as result of injuries received in a three-story plunge from the window of a rooming house in High street.

Czech 3-Month Truce Opposed By Sudetens

By GEORGE LANGWEIL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PRAGUE, Sept. 1—Plans for a three-month truce in the Sudeten autonomy controversy, to be followed by eventual big-power adjudication of Germany's demands, were revealed today by the Czechoslovak government.

The truce period would begin with a proclamation by President Edouard Benes in which a comprehensive government policy for satisfaction of minority and nationality demands would be expounded.

The Sudetens are generally expected to reject any proposals by Prague along this line, whereafter in the normal course of events Reichsfuehrer Hitler would call for a plebiscite in the Sudeten regions.

According to the Czech view, the Sudetens would not be asked to vote upon actual union with Germany, but merely called upon to signify whether or not they wish full autonomy.

Regardless of the outcome, the plebiscite would then be rejected by Prague and a conference of big powers called to discuss the German aims.

Britain Asks 'Open Door'

(Copyright, 1938)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (INS)—Great Britain has asked assurances of the United States that, in event of war with Germany, America's vast resources will remain open to her for vital replenishment of food supplies, munitions, guns and planes, it was reported today.

One of Britain's major worries in the present crisis over Germany's threatened invasion of Czechoslovakia, it was learned, is that, should England be drawn in, the United States would clamp down an embargo on war supplies under the Neutrality Act.

This crucial question is said to be one of the major considerations in the behind-the-scenes negotiations blocking completion of the Anglo-American trade pact.

Bridges Denies Roosevelt Slur

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1 (AP)—Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO director, branded as false today testimony before the Dies committee investigating "un-Americanism" that he had cursed the President.

"My respect and loyalty to President Roosevelt and the principles of the New Deal are a matter of record," he said.

"When the Dies committee accuses me of cursing the President, it is hitting an all-time high in slander."

Pilots, Beware Of Crocodiles!

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Leaping crocodiles—a new air hazard.

Imperial Airways reports that one of its flying boats was taking off at Port Bell on Lake Victoria, Africa, when a "crocodile gave a remarkable display of agility."

"The flying boat," says the report in Nature, Britain's official scientific journal, "had just taken the air when about 40 yards away a crocodile about nine feet long leaped full length out of the water, clearing the surface with its whole body by about four feet."

Baby's Love For Kitten Costs Life

FORT FAIRFIELD, Me., Sept. 1 (AP)—Two-year-old Glendal Kinney's affection for a kitten today caused his death beneath a passenger train.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kinney of Maple Grove, near here, was struck by the train as he played with the kitten on the railroad tracks.

COWS GIVEN BATHS

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—Scottsbluff dairymen conform to cleanliness regulations, not only by keeping their barns spotless but by giving their cows two baths a day, "or anguish," Fly testified.

Suits Jeopardize TVA, Charged

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1 (INS)—Injunctions filed by private power companies have jeopardized the entire Tennessee Valley Authority program, demoralized the TVA staff and resulted in personnel reductions, James Lawrence Fly, the agency's chief counsel, today told the congressional committee investigating TVA.

Beauty Contest Row Echoes Victory of Dancing Divorcee

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1 (AP)—A beauty contest to select "Miss Western Pennsylvania" was mixed up beautifully today.

Tears streaked the mascara of the lovely contestants and a law suit was threatened after award of the title to Peggy Neenan, 20-year-olds dancing divorcee of nearby Bellevue, who later was declared ineligible.

Peggy said she didn't know divorcees were ineligible and "besides, nobody asked me."

The judges decided to send Ruth Willock, 18, pincew inner, to Atlantic City and the chance for the national beauty title. Then Vera Fisher, 22, who came in third, said the judges really had given her first award and erred in reporting their verdict.

She threatened to sue for her "rights." Her counsel, A. H. Rosenberg, promised a thorough investigation.

Cut by Glass In Window Crash

William Martin, 30, of Monument street, Charlestown was injured today when he fell through the plate glass window of a Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay, restaurant.

Reichsbank Chief In Divorce Suit

LONDON, Sept. 1 (INS)—Divorce proceedings between Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of Germany's Reichsbank, and his wife, Luise, have been instituted, the London News-Chronicle reported today from Berlin.

Stir Caused By Suspension Of Relief Head

Everett political and veterans circles were stirred today with suspension of Francis P. Byrne, Everett soldiers' relief commissioner and an audit of his office accounts.

Byrne was suspended by Mayor Frank E. Lewis, who appointed him two years ago. He is a former councilman and past commander of veteran organizations.

In his stead, Mayor Lewis appointed Henry F. Armstrong, a nonveteran and assistant in the department. He stated a veteran would be given the post if an eligible man could be found.

A member during the war days of the 101st Infantry, Byrne was wounded in France.

Heiress, Wounded, May Be Paralyzed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1 (AP)—Charles E. McDonald, 29-year-old electrician, was ordered held for trial today on charges of assault with intent to murder Mrs. Karl Krueger, heiress wife of the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra director. Arraignment was set for Sept. 16.

It was testified that Mrs. Krueger, shot down in Hollywood Aug. 19, may be paralyzed for life.

Schooner Loads For Grenfell Trip

The two-masted schooner George B. Cluett today was loading a cargo of food, clothing, medical supplies and three pedigreed cows for the Grenfell Mission Association stations in northern Newfoundland and Labrador.

This is the vessel's second trip of the season between Boston and Newfoundland, under command of Captain Kenneth Iverson.

Rites Friday For Suicide Thug

The body of Harold Ananian, 27, who committed suicide in Charles street jail by jumping himself in his cell after being arrested for complicity in a Cambridge jewelry holdup, reposed in an undertaker's morgue on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, today.

It was claimed by his young wife Beatrice yesterday.

Funeral services it was stated will be held tomorrow. Miss Ananian's death came as special surprise to her. Her mother told reporters:

"No we feel no ill will towards Harold. He was a good boy."

Mrs. Ananian said [illegible] was unaware of her husband's al-

The tickets were on the Cesare Barbieri with race to be run in Newcastle, England, Oct. 26.

Brookline Rabbi Sees Hitler Aid In Jewish Ban

The hand of Adolf Hitler was seen today by Rabbi V. R. Landau of Brookline as complicating factor in Italian edict for expulsion of Jews.

Admittedly [illegible] by the swift rise and success of the Italian [illegible] Rabbi Landau [illegible] declared he was "unable to understand the anti-Semitic attitude of the Fascist leader.

"There must have been the impelling influence of Hitler brought to bear upon Premier Mussolini to promulgate this drastic expulsion order," asserted Rabbi Landau.

"For thousands of years, until the ascendancy of Il Duce to power, the Jewish and Italian races have lived together in harmony. Even Mussolini himself, quite recently, has pooh-poohed the rumors of an impending Jewish purge.

"It must have taken the entire weight of the Hitler regime to have forced Mussolini to fly in the face of Pope Pius XI, who, in at least four public addresses denounced introduction of anti-Jewish discrimination upon Italian soil."

Alexander Brin, accepted Jewish [illegible] and member of the Massachusetts [illegible] Board of [illegible] supported the theory advanced by Rabbi Landau that the German Fuehrer forced the hand of Mussolini.

"It appears to me," he stated, that the Berlin House axis is to be strengthened by the establishment in Italy of a system of anti-Semitism."

[illegible] be who will be under compulsion to leave Italy and find residence elsewhere [illegible] not be known until a racial census [illegible] now under way is completed.

Mussolini's decree applies to most of the Italian colonies as well as the kingdom itself, but newly-conquered Abyssinia was excluded.

This led to widespread belief Italy intends to create a Jewish colony [illegible] African possession.

An official communique announcing the decree defined Hebrews as "persons born of Jewish parentage even though they may have embraced or profess another religion."

Jews failing to recognize their obligations to leave if they fall into this category will be forcibly expelled, the communique said.

During recent months there has been a rising tide of anti-Jewish agitation in Italy, with the official newspapers of the Mussolini regime attacking the race with a vigor unparalleled even in Nazi Germany.

The Vatican on several occasions voiced its protest against Mussolini's drive for "Aryanization" of Italy, with particular opposition to newspaper articles and official speeches demanding that all necessary steps be taken to instil a "racial purity" in Italy and strip the nation of "alien influences."

"Oh unquestionably, sir," replied Davis.

Davis said that in 1935 he became active on Dutch Schultz's rackets. He went to Washington four or five times a month, he explained.

Davis then told how he left New York and became a fugitive. He resumed:

"Two, three or four weeks after Schultz was killed I left the latter part of November, 1935. I stayed in Las Vegas, N. M., until January, 1936, when I heard there were disbarment proceedings against me. So I came back to New York to fight them."

Stryker asked Davis when he first met George Weinberg [illegible] Davis replied.

Davis said that Weinberg [illegible] Davis [illegible] Weinberg and Davis together.

Stryker wanted to know if it were a fact that Mr. Weinberg was Schultz's trigger man. Davis replied that he knew nothing about it.

Coakley Okayed As 4th District Candidate

A writ of mandamus to compel Secretary Robert Lewis H. Coakley to certify his nomination for the governor's council in the South Boston district entered the full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Court today.

"The fact that Coakley is not a resident or inhabitant of the Fourth Councillor District does not render him ineligible to election as councillor by the voters of said district," the court ruled.

I have permission to print, in part, a letter received not long ago from a young woman recently divorced. I am not divulging the name, of course, only part of the circumstances that led to the divorce. It reads:

"I divorced my husband because I discovered he would rather do the housework than get a job and fill the role of a husband to me. Peter had a definite 'feminine makeup,' despite his six feet of brawn and masculine good looks.

"Soon after we were married, he lost his job and, to tide over, I found employment, instead of looking for another job, Peter preferred to stay at home and do the housework and cooking—stating each day that he would get out and look for employment.

"I realized that I was far too assertive a woman to make him a good wife, that he needed a more feminine, helpless, type of woman, who would lean upon him and provide the impetus for him to go back to masculine type of work."

This situation may seem humorous to you, nevertheless it is true. Another young woman writes:

"Terry was over-meticulous about his clothes, over-tipped waiters and bell-boys wherever he went, became abusive if anyone jostled him in an elevator and always had an argument with the management of any place where we dined.

"Everyone was in the wrong except Terry. He regarded his salesmen as dumbbells and his superiors as lunatics. I soon became disillusioned and found him a petty tyrant to live with.

"Terry was the only son of a mother who adored him and, of course, spoiled him thoroughly, who had petted and catered to his every whim."

[illegible] example of what [illegible] type of person [illegible] of unrelated person that makes them sometimes a bit contemptuous of others.

FREE Miles
in every Tankful
of JENNEY SOLVENIZED
GASOLINE
You, too, might as well have the extra mileage that thousands are getting with Jenney Solvenized.
Jenney is the only gasoline in New England made with this patented Solvenized process which dissolves gum, and so loosens carbon around valves and rings. Valves then seat more tightly, rings seal better. Result is improved compression—gasoline vapor that used to leak past valves and rings is kept in the combustion chamber, and used. That's why Jenney Solvenized gives you more mileage—free miles in every tankful.
Try it today, and for greatest benefit, use Jenney Solvenized Gasoline regularly.
JENNEY MANUFACTURING CO.
Jenney Mfg. Co. headquarters at 12 Ingha St., built in 1810 when Ingha St. was Ingha Dock. It is appropriate that the oldest oil company in America should occupy the oldest brick building in America still used for business.
Perfect Teammate
for Jenney Solvenized is Jenney Solvenoil, the Extreme Pressure Motor Oil. Solvenoil resists carbon and sludge, reduces friction, heat and wear, lasts longer and protects better. It improves the efficiency of the lower zone of your motor as Solvenized does the upper zone.

Boston After Dark

BY GEORGE HOLLAND

Exclusive:

Governor Hurley, Mayor Tobin, Congressman Connery and others, will be served with summonses for a hearing scheduled for September 30 in Washington . . . Among the "others" will be a representative of a Boston newspaper . . . The hearing will be conducted by the FCC, and at stake will be the renewal of the license of a prominent radio broadcasting station . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

After Labor Day, the chief campaign issue of one of the prominent candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination will be the insurance rates assessed on automobile owners in Massachusetts . . .

And this appears to be an opportune occasion to make known that this column's policy from the current instant until primary day is that no political news, gossip or predictions will appear in this space . . .

Texas will vote in favor of restoration of horse-racing in November, according to "feed-box" dope available at this time . . . This would be of no local importance ordinarily . . . But the singular angle of the Texas situation is that two Boston groups are battling for the rail in the fight for the racing concession . . .

One group is that headed by Lou Smith, who pioneered in placing mutuels in Texas . . . The other is the Bottomley-Davis-Hayes amalgamation, which is also financially potent.

Once Over Lightly:

The best answer to the Ickes blast against Mayor Tobin is that Harry Hopkins, PWA administrator, and the Mayor have been together constantly since Hopkins arrived in town . . .

The brunt of the Mayor's answer to Ickes six weeks ago was that he, the Mayor, had confidence in Harry Hopkins' word that Boston would get a fair shake in New Deal appropriations . . . Rae Salisbury, a 22-year-old post-deb from Wellesley Farms, auditioned at the Cocoanut Grove last night . . . Clyde Lucas and his band will be the opening attraction at the Hotel Statler Terrace Room September 15 . . .

If there is a price on an original signature by Ireland's great Parnell, Andy Harrington has an autograph of Parnell affixed to a membership card of an old Dublin social club . . .

Capt. Bill Donegan, a South Boston lad, leaves for his station at St Paul's Fort Snelling 1 day after a month's leave of absence . . . Earl Westray, the hotel and night club concessionaire, celebrated with Mrs Westray their 16th wedding anniversary at the downtown nightclubs . . .

A new baby boy has joined the merry Fred Olive and one make six of the Tom McCosker . . . Tom is one of the Tobin secretariat . . .

Harry Stevens, who made many Boston fans in the course of an eight-week stay at the Mayfair, will be master of ceremonies when the Dempsey-Vanderbilt hotel opens in Miami late in November . . . Sophie Prill, the fetching night club chorister, is out of the hospital . . . She stabbed herself with skate in attempting a new routine . . .

That fuss in Cambridge concerning the appointment of a police commissioner is being kept over until after primary day . . . Six Cambridge city councilors are battling to the House of Representatives . . . A speed on the heels of Mayor Lyons against Police Chief Leahy might prove embarrassing, before the votes are counted.

Chatter:

Carl Parker took today produced the "angle" who assisted RKO Chief Charles W. Koerner the best golf player in the Boston theater set . . . Chief Koerner won at the 19th of the game was baffled when he and Emmett Gavin of the parole board, were defeated by Parky and a stranger . . . The "stranger" was Joe Lynch who won the state amateur championship in 1933 . . . Lynch negotiated the course at Wollaston, as Parky's partner in 65 beating Joe by seven strokes . . .

Only the caddies and Parky know that Mr "Hemmingway's" right name was Lynch . . . For a sketch from the chaphtaxm, please see Roberts and White as they burlesque a couple of college kids at a prom"—a feature of their repertory at the Cocoanut Grove . . .

Theater Group Scored as 'Red'

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The federal theater project and the federal writers project were termed "hotbeds of Communism" today by Representative J. Parnell Thomas (R) of New Jersey, chairman of the House subcommittee with headquarters here.

Thomas said his statement was based by evidence and the sworn testimony of officials and executives of the projects. He promised "exposing information."

Thomas attacked Hallie Flanagan, the national director of the units, as being "famous for [illegible] back in 1927."

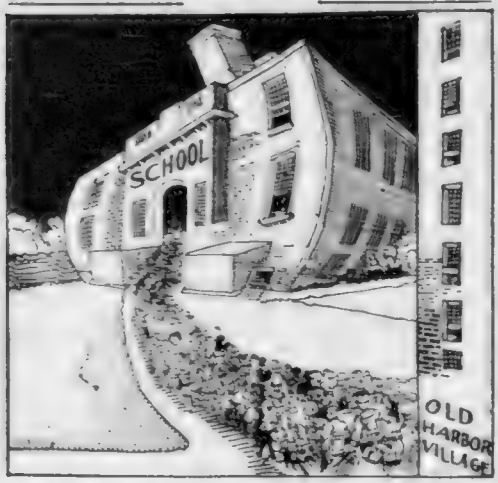
Standing Room Only



The Editor Says:

—Uncle Sam in his experimental role of Utopian landlord gives Boston a new and unexpected headache. The real pain will come with the reopening of public schools a week hence.

There are 1,016 families and NINE HUNDRED CHILDREN of school age at the Old Harbor Federal Housing Project. And these boys and girls must attend classes. BUT WHERE? That is the question puzzling Boston.

The city leases schools—the John Boyle O'Reilly in South Boston and the Roger Clap and the William E. Russell in Dorchester—at a yearly rate large enough to pay for new buildings. They can barely afford this ADDITIONAL strain.

Consequently Boston already hard pressed financially, must choose between erecting new schools or enlarging old ones.

No help from Uncle Sam as anticipated. To date, he has successfully resisted attempts to levy taxes on Old Harbor, contenting himself with a paltry contribution of $15,000, which is supposed to pay for police and fire protection—funds and everything that bona fide taxpayers enjoy.

The situation is unfair, unjust and unnecessary and the Federal authorities should remedy it. Boston cannot afford new schools, particularly for a community that is a "landlord" who demands all the privileges of a property owner but avoids a property owner's obligations.

MOTION PICTURE WEEK opens today in Boston. Our theaters and the thousands that attend them unite in a deserving tribute to the American film industry which is supporting leadership in the nation's forward march to prosperity by inaugurating the biggest, most enterprising year in movie history.

An interesting and appropriate event of the week will be the distribution of $250,000 in "movie quiz" awards to contest winners. It is to be hoped that the major prize—$50,000—goes to a Bostonian or a New Englander.

Fittingly, in his official proclamation of Motion Picture Week, Mayor Tobin directs attention to the RECOGNIZED SUPREMACY of the American film and lauds the theaters of Boston and the entire industry for their contribution to the social and educational welfare of the community.

The praise is merited, for, as Mr. Tobin further says, the "theaters are COMMUNITY CENTERS, the common meeting ground of all our citizens, young and old."

WARDS 19 MOURNS for City Councilor Peter A. Morrar, dead at 50 as the result of a criminal carelessness. And the world's grief is shared by thousands throughout the city and State.

Councilor Morrar will be long and affectionately remembered as a family man, a devoted father who took pride in the fact that his Number One Job was the upbringing of his seven motherless children.

PRISON REVELRY, liquor orgies and lax discipline will never pass unnoticed in Norfolk County. That is the pledge of the commissioners.

Moreover, they promise an investigation of Mr. Arthur T. Lyman's charges that county jail and farm inmates engage in brawls and guards misbehave.

The inquiry should be THOROUGH. Nothing less will do.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT knew mighty well what he was doing when he decided to invade Maryland in a last personal effort to salvage his prestige from impending imminent at the hands of Senator Tydings and his Free Staters.

A thorough and confidential poll to which Mr. Roosevelt is said to have had access had just been completed when the Hyde Park die was cast.

Scientifically based on occupational lines, the poll covered 100 interviewers in each of the Maryland counties of the Eastern Shore, and the southern part of the state. It was taken by an organization outside of politics which is very active in the campaign and which is adequately prepared to conduct such a survey.

IT revealed that the "undecided" vote in each of the pivotal counties was sufficiently large to throw the election either to Senator Tydings or to Little Davey Lewis, the President's New Deal candidate.

Thus the poll thought taken by Lewis supporters was unsatisfactory as it disclosed the outcome to be in doubt.

It became essential, therefore, for the President to try to turn the scale in Lewis' favor by a direct personal appeal to the voters in the uncertain counties.

It may be added, in connection with that a course close to, but not of the White House, a source which, frequently, has known things before the White House itself has known them, has passed the word along that Mr. Roosevelt, going into Pennsylvania to try to help the wavering Kennedy, is interested in the New Deal in the November elections.

STRANGE how names seem to have led to the undoing of State Senator Edgar Brown, as one of the two New Deal candidates for Senator in South Carolina, the name which promises determined the result.

Few would think that this was the work of the late friend of Joe Kennan, a friend Joe was on his way to help, when Brown's well-timed withdrawal was announced.

A most unusual story Brown told, and not governor Olin Johnston, who was the New Deal favorite.

It is known that Keenan was in close communication with him by mail and long distance. The plan at the end of July appears to have envisioned the withdrawal of Johnston-Brown, being deemed the more likely horse to beat out Cotton Ed Smith. Then the President returned to Pensacola.

KEENAN was in on the Warm Springs conference which led to the bolt against Senator George. He went North with the President, and in Georgia Governor Johnston got aboard the presidential train.

Presumably Johnston agreed before he would not withdraw.

In that posture of affairs, the President enlisted neither Brown nor Johnston in his rear-platform speech in South Carolina.

The eleventh hour withdrawal of Brown may have been—by a remarkable coincidence—his own idea.

It would appear that Brown had expected White House endorsement, had failed to get it, and then in righteous resentment, withdrew to prevent the possible nomination of Johnston, long his bitter political enemy. Maybe Joe Keenan couldn't deliver the goods!

The Brighter Side

Goat Herd Thrives In Literary Haven

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., International copyright and all other rights reserved.

OUR knowledge of the goat has heretofore been confined mainly to its edible qualities as conjured up at certain seasons of the year by Solly the chef at the good Signor Giovanni Di Salvio's restaurant in Greenwich Village.

It was the good Signor Di Salvio, who is perhaps better known to his immediate clientele and to the prize fight customers of a couple of generations back, as Jimmy Kelly, who first introduced us to the goat for eating purposes.

We do not know even now what it is that Solly the chef does to the goat to transform it into an entree and we have never inquired. All we know is that it makes first class eating. An ironclad rule with us is never to inquire into the ingredients of a chef for fear we may hear disquieting news.

That has been our rule since the time in Chester, Pa., that we partook of a luscious game pie that we understood to be squirrel but which we were afterwards informed was muskrat. Moreover, when we eat goat with the good Signor Di Salvio it is generally at his expense and we do not think a fellow should look a gift goat in the mouth any more than a gift horse.

Damon Runyon

Now of a sudden our sum of information about the goat is suddenly increased. We have before us a copy of the Dairy Goat Journal, published in Fairbury, Nebraska, and devoted entirely to the goat. We learn with some astonishment from this print that we are permanently acquainted with a fellow who traffikes in goats.

He is Marcus Griffin Broadway and sports connection of his brother Bill's age-getting weeks. The New York Telegram. There is a picture of Marcus standing in the manger taken between two goats but we can easily tell which. Marcus because he has a cap on.

We recall now on viewing this picture that the last time we saw Marcus he was mumbling about goats but we thought he was talking about taxpayers. What could a Broadway columnist and sports writer have in common with goats? No cute answers, please.

However, it seems that Marcus Griffin owns one of those farms up in Connecticut and not content with having the landscape of the Nutmeg State already cluttered up with magazine editors, actors, columnists, novelists and other literary fauna he has imported a herd of what they call Saanen goats and is putting himself away as a goat farmer.

In answer to some criticism from his neighbors Mr. Griffin contends that his goats are no worse than the novelists but this is a debate which we must leave to the Connecticut Nutmeg. That thrilling publication that has more editors than Dewey has enemies.

THE Dairy Goat Journal tells quite a tale about the Saanen dairy goat. The type owned by Mr. Griffin. It seems this goat was first imported to this country from Germany by J. C. Dodd of Dayton, Ohio after a lot of trouble and expense. It cost him $2,000 to get a herd of 50 Saanens and Toggenburgs to his farm in Ohio, which was all that were left of a big shipment.

Of the 50 goats that were left about 31 were pure-bred Saanens priced at from $400 to $1,000 for bucks, $600 to $1,000 for does and $200 to $400 for kids. After reading these figures we are inclined to doubt that the good Signor Di Salvio feeds us on Saanen goat, unless he is out of his mind.

It seems that goat milk is highly esteemed in many quarters. In fact Mr. Griffin shows in his article on goats that of his herd on Long Mountain near New Milford, Conn., four quarts of goat milk are consumed daily.

He implies that he drinks goat milk himself and now what interests us about this more than anything else is what Mr. Griffin uses for a chaser.

One Word Led to Another

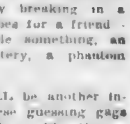
CAN you guess the pictures of the Hollywood scene who belong under these one-line slugs? Here's a list for you to work on:

EXHIBITOR who seated the Marching Chinese. He's mislaid his famous spectacles — Charm carried out to the fifth decimal point. Colossally petite and demurely terrific. They handed it to her on ice. The top soul blown off the Garden of Eden—Twitching like a boss's skin in flytime—

HE NEVER winds up with men on base, he winds up with the girl—Reading from left to right it's he —

HE CAN steal a picture off a tattooed lady—She gave us double baby talk — Vaccinated with a phonograph needle. A voice from the silent days.

MUSICAL DIRECTOR for Paramount retakes — Always in a triangle like Napoleon's hat — Fresher than paint on the brush — A diamond in the ruffian — An oasis amid the Lakes of Killarney —



A DRAMATIC expression that can only be achieved by breaking in a new pair of shoes for a friend. An indescribable something, an intangible mystery, a phantom presence.

THERE WILL be another installment of these guessing gags next Monday if you like them—there will be another and last instalment next Monday if you don't like them.

Girl About Town

by Marjorie McBride

SHE'S probably the youngest skipper in New England. Referring to nine-year-old Betty Bishop, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson of the Boston Yacht Club, who can handle a man-sized boat with the best of them.

Ever since she was so high, Betty has been a pet at the clubhouse and delighted the members with her precocious sea-going enthusiasm.

Marjorie McBride

They tell about her early initiation among the yachtsmen. Once, in a helpful mood, she covered the seats of several dories with tar.

Another time she set out in a tender for a de luxe cruiser and told the captain that his master had sent her to polish the brass. Skeptical, but impressed with the child's earnestness, the captain furnished rags and polish. After an hour of smearing the decks with gooey salve, Betty tired of her self-appointed task and left a knowing crew to clean up after her.

Now, of course, she's outgrown such childishness. She has her own sturdy craft, christened "My Own" and to watch her hoist the mainsail, handle the tiller, and maneuver the harbor, is awe-inspiring.

IF YOU have always wondered just how much the annual influx of tourists in Boston means in a commercial way, the statistics recently collected in a survey will be of interest.

The average sight-seer spends $40 in the course of a two or three day tour of the town. The distribution of his dollars is something like this:

Ten dollars goes for merchandise . . . gifts and souvenirs . . . nine dollars is the usual bill for restaurants and cafes . . . hotels get about seven dollars . . . four dollars is spent on theaters and amusements . . . three dollars purchase confectioneries and incidentals . . . four dollars covers transportation including buses, taxis and street car rides . . . and three dollars is left for gas and oil to take the traveler on his way.

AN OLD-FASHIONED foot-scraper on the lower step of your apartment house on Beacon Hill is quaint but is it necessary?

Once there was such an object in front of every self-respecting Boston home. They were put there so you could scrape the mud from your shoes, and were good for grandma's carpets.

Modern apartment house dwellers aren't used to them. Cunningly placed, and invisible in the dark, they account for many a humiliating tumble!

JOHNNY ROOSEVELT, the President's son, doesn't know it, but since he went to work in Filene's store, the information booth there has been doing a rushing business. Hundreds of women have asked: "Where can I see Johnny in the store?"

New York Cavalcade

by Louis Sobol

PURELY PERSONAL Some months ago I mentioned casually that when September rolled around, I would have been a newspaperman twenty-five years. I can't, for the life of me remember the exact date I started as a reporter at space rates on the Waterbury Republican, but I do know that it was on the final day of August, 1913, that I knew I was to work on a newspaper. That was a quarter of a century ago.

Louis Sobol

MANAGING EDITOR Timothy J. Barry had only a few instructions to impart. "You must," he insisted, "ask questions. Never take it for granted you know what it's all about. A good newspaperman should learn from an interview everything there is to learn about the person he is interviewing. Age, height, color of eyes, education, personal philosophy—is he married or single—has he children—nationality. A good newspaperman will never intrude his own opinions into his story—nor take sides, and he will not have a man hung—he will have him hanged. I do not like split infinitives. I do not like to have the deceased interred—and whenever you can use a short word, do so. Don't be a fancy writer."

A FEW DAYS later, I was given my first assignment—a Crosby High School dance. The city editor had instructed me to write my copy double space and not more than a couple of sticks. A stick, I was told, was about two inches. I wrote four pages of copy about that dance—a full column. A column was twenty-one inches. Twenty-one inches at five cents an inch meant a profit of $1.05—a nice day's work, I thought—considering that it was fun too—and that I had not paid for admission to the dance.

WHEN I PICKED up the paper the next morning, I did not find my story. Finally, after much searching, I did locate about 90 words on the dance. I protested to the city editor who looked up at me and said mildly: "I had to cut it a little."

AS THE YEARS walked past, I learned not to suffer too agonizingly when my masterpieces were massacred. I learned to tell the high points of the story in the first paragraph and although later along came a new school of modern editors who did not stress the importance of putting your punch into the first few lines—preferred rather to have the stunner at the end—nevertheless, I am one of the few who thinks that a story should so be written that when the emergency arises, it may be slashed to the first paragraph and still tell all that should be told.

Farm Prices

by Hugh S. Johnson

BETHANY BEACH, DEL. Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace has complained that this column is unfair to him. He wants it censored for accuracy. The Secretary himself can censor it for accuracy. If his people call my attention to any inaccurate statements of fact, I will correct them immediately. But who is going to censor the Secretary for accuracy?

General Johnson

High finance has seen few equals to his adroitness in so revising and recasting the estimates of the corn crop, supply and consumption that he escaped the requirement of the law to put corn-croppers under a quota system. It was bare-faced figure-juggling. Politically it was advisable. Corn farmers would probably have repudiated Mr. Wallace's quotas and this, in an election year, would never do.

Mr. Wallace almost immediately burst forth with a plan to buy vast quantities of wheat at an artificial American price, jimmied or attempted to be jimmied, by Mr. Wallace, above the world price. Then he will sell this surplus in export at the much lower world price and charge the loss to the Treasury. This is precisely the reverse of the gospel Mr. Wallace has for five years preached.

In spite of the hundreds of millions he has squandered, farm prices have not been maintained at parity and if the whole policy and program is not a proved flop, what do you call it?

Agricultural prosperity, which means industrial prosperity, can't be maintained on world farm prices. That's certain. No non-farmer ever kicked on paying for dollar wheat, ten cent cotton, six-bit corn. If the price in a free market fell below that, or below whatever figure above that is "parity"—it wouldn't be much greater—then there would be no important consumer opposition in this country to an excise tax on all we use, sufficient to pay those prices to farmers without any attempt to restrict farm production or regiment any farmer, except perhaps honest, reasonable conditions as to soil-conservation and anti-erosion.

OF COURSE, there could be no argument for paying that tax and maintaining that price on what agriculture chose to produce above domestic needs for sale to export. The price in our markets on export crops would be, as always, the competitive world price. If we consume 600,000,000 bushels of wheat and the farmers raise 900,000,000 bushels, they would get a guaranteed $1 a bushel on 2-3 of their crop and the lower competitive price in a free world market for the rest.

That would maintain their price stability and security and their economic and political freedom. It would preserve to them their export markets for any surplus and the volume advantage of all bumper crops. What's the matter with that? Principally that it has no element of political control of agriculture by Mr. Wallace.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Listen, You!
Yes, I mean YOU!
You, sitting there—
Heart-weary woman—
In a kitchen chair—
Eyeing your dirty dishes—
Head-weary man
Staring at your littered desk
Desperate derelict,
Huddled over your
Booze-swilled table—
Feeling you're through—
Feeling you're licked—
Listen, You
IT'S NOT TRUE!
YOU'RE NOT THROUGH!
YOU'RE NOT LICKED!
YOU CAN COME BACK!

Straighten that spine—
Cut out that whine—
Mop up that chin
And listen in—
I'M TALKING TO YOU—
I'M TELLING YOU TRUE,
IT'S A LIE,
YOU'RE NOT THROUGH—
YOU—CAN—COME—BACK!

No matter how far
You've slipped—
No matter how low
You've fallen—
No matter how crushed
You are by heartbreak—
Or seared by humiliation—
Or drained by failure—
Or poisoned by hate—
It still is true
You can win through
YOU CAN COME BACK!

You can come back!
Nothing's holding you
Except your own fear—
Nothing's binding you
Except your own hurt—
Nothing can wreck you
Except your own surrender!
We get what we rate—
We build our own Fate!
LIFE ISN'T THE SUM OF WHAT HAPPENS TO US—
LUCK ISN'T AN ACCIDENT
THAT TUMBLES UPON US—LIFE IS AS WE TAKE IT—
LUCK IS WHAT WE MAKE IT—
YOU CAN STAY LICKED
OR YOU CAN COME BACK—
IT'S UP TO YOU!

"But why should I stay down
"If I can stand up?"
You ask.
This is why—
Because it's easier
To Give In Than Get Going—
Easier to Blubber
Than Battle—
Easier to be
Sorry for yourself,
Than to kick yourself
Into action.
For the lazy
And the cowardly
And the vain—
GRIEF IS A SWELL HIDE-OUT—
REMORSE IS A GRAND RACKET—
FAILURE IS A BLANKET ALIBI—AND DESPAIR IS THE CENTER OF THE STAGE!

But I haven't
"What it takes."
You still whine—
Yes, you have!
You have all
Anyone needs—
This isn't all of you,
This exhausted flesh,
This bewildered brain,
This befouled reputation
These are not all
Of any man or woman—
There is something more—
Something finer and stronger
Than this befuddled self
Which is taking the count—
THERE IS THAT SECRET SELF,
THAT NOBLER SELF
YOU WERE MEANT TO BE—
AND WITH THAT SELF
YOU CAN COME BACK!

Others may not know
That secret self
But you know it—
You remember
The dreams it dreamed,
The vows it vowed—
The shining trails
It planned to tread—
When you were young
And brave and sure—
You remember that Secret Self,
Even in your shame
Your bewilderment
And collapse
You remember it—
And why?
Here's why—
Because it is Your real Self—
Your conquering
And immortal Self—
The Self which God
Lit within you
When, long ago,
He breathed His spark
Into your poor, weak clay.

YOU CAN COME BACK
And this is why
You can come back—
Because, despite,
All failure and folly,
All heartbreak and humiliation,
There is, within you,
AN IMMORTAL SPARK—
AN UNCONQUERABLE PART A PART OF GOD, HIMSELF!

Listen, You!
You in that cluttered kitchen,
That littered office,
That tawdry saloon,
Get up your head
And behave—
YOU CAN COME BACK!
AND YOU WILL COME BACK
WHENEVER YOU CHOOSE!
For there is something in you
Which will not stay licked—
Which will not stay fouled—
Something that is
Tall and shining—
Something that is
Fierce and fighting
Something that is
GOD—
AND THAT GOD IN YOU WILL BRING YOU BACK!

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

NO WOMAN ever will know what her husband is thinking about when he sits beside her watching a heart-throb play. But she does know this much—that it isn't about HER.

STILL, we agree with Mr. Damon Runyon's observation that marriage is a good bet for anybody—and that "NEVER AGAIN" is better than "NEVER AT ALL."

YOU CAN never see a husband's face in the darkness, and a man's expression doesn't give him away as a woman's does anyhow. He may be thinking of some vexing business problem or of some good story he heard that day—or merely wishing that he could get out for a glass of beer.

LOTS of matrimonial smashups could be avoided, if husband and wife would watch for the signals and show each other the "courtesy of the road." But most of them lock wheels in an effort to pass each other—and then sit and argue about who is to blame.

North Shore Dance Will Aid Hospital Fund

By BETTY ALDEN

EVERYONE thinks of debutantes farting party to party when the annual season is mentioned . . . yet with party preparations, charitable work and their own social activities the debs' mothers have a little "whirl" of their own . . . Betsy Chalifoux, who will be presented at a dance on the North Shore in October as well as at a ball at the Somerset in December and will attend most of the exclusive [illegible] festivities both here and in New York, has a full schedule of activities ahead of her . . . but the social calendar of her mother Mrs. Harold L. Chalifoux is just as full . . .

Between shopping with Betsy checking lists of Harvardians and Yalies for her parties and addressing hundreds of invitations, Mrs. Chalifoux found time to handle all the details of entertaining [illegible] women golfers who played in the recent Myopia [illegible] and her latest activity is in behalf of the Boston Lying-In Hospital of which she is chairman of the board of lady visitors . . .

She is chairman of a charity dance to benefit the hospital, which will be held on Friday, September 16 at the Casino in Magnolia . . . Serving as patronesses for the affair will be Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Mrs. Harold G. Cutler, Mrs. James B. Dane Jr., Mrs. George P. [illegible], Mrs. Henry M. Sherman, Mrs. George L. Batholder, Mrs. Frederick C. Church and [illegible] prominent North Shore women . . .

Winners in the Casino's popularity contest will be announced and prizes awarded at the dance . . . and there will be a contest for the best waltzers and swing enthusiasts . . . Dottie Preston, [illegible] of the dance committee, heads an energetic group of North Shore girls who are lending a helpful hand in planning the party . . . They include Nancy Lesher, Mrs. George Clement and [illegible] Betsy Chalifoux, Lily Warren, Mrs. John Bacon, Diana Bird and a number of others . . .

Newton Girl Joins Brides

White satin gown and veil of tulle crowned the wedding ensemble of Ann [illegible] Kinney of Newton who became the bride of Thomas McEnaney of Newton [illegible] a nine o'clock ceremony this morning in St. Bernard's Church.

Dennis McElaney gave his daughter in marriage. Rev. Thomas Brand officiated at the wedding which was followed by a reception and breakfast at the West Newton Neighborhood Club.

The bride's only attendant was her sister Mary who wore a gown of blue crepe dress with a velvet jacket of exquisite blue velvet. She carried bouquet of roses and delphinium. Mrs. Dennis McElaney, the bride's mother, wore blue lace with navy accessories and shoulder bouquet of orchids. Mrs. McEnaney was smartly attired in blue velvet and orchids.

State's First Lady Hostess At Reception

More than five hundred women from all parts of the eastern states descended on the Hotel Statler yesterday for a combined tea and reception at which Mrs. Charles F. Hurley, the Commonwealth's First Lady served as hostess. The affair was one of the highlights on the regional conference of women Democrats.

Capably assisting her was Mrs. Margaret O'Riordan, state chairman who was smartly attired in a soft blue chiffon dress. Mrs. Hurley wore a trim black tailored frock, its bodice fashioned of Venice lace.

Among the prominent out-of-town visitors were June Fickel, member of the social security board, who accented her aqua frock with wine accessories, and Mrs. Sylvia Mariner whose attractive rust dress was trimmed with jade green.

Mrs. Elizabeth McNamara pinned a corsage of bright flowers in her gray chiffon. Mrs. John A. Donehue's beige tweed suit was trimmed with colorful roman stripe crepe and Mrs. Joseph Langone, Jr. topped her black and white ensemble with a long silver fox cape.

Supper Fetes Mary Twiss

Mary Theresa Twiss of West Roxbury was entertained at a buffet supper last evening at the home of Eleanor and Constance Dever, Hilltop road, Chestnut Hill.

Miss Twiss, daughter of Mrs. George Twiss and sister to Rev. John J. Twiss of the Immaculate Conception Church in Salem, is leaving a week from today to enter the St. Joseph Novitiate in Framingham.

Many of her classmates were on hand to bid her goodbye. Mary is a graduate of Mt. St. Joseph's Academy, class of '1938. She's a prominent member of the Junior Philomatheia club.

Brookline Bride Wears Cream Satin

Wearing a gown of cream satin made on princess lines, with a bodice of Alencon lace and a tulle veil falling from a Juliet cap of pearls and net, Miss Gertrude Bent was married last evening to Stephen Higginson Tyng, son of Mr. and Mrs. Griswold Tyng of Jamaica Plain.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart Bent of Brookline. The ceremony took place in First Parish Church of Brookline, with the Rev. Abbot Peterson officiating.

Miss Ruth Denny of Brookline was the maid of honor and wore a gown of blue chiffon with a wreath of pastel flowers in her hair. The bridesmaids were similar gowns of yellow chiffon with mixed bouquets. In the group were Nancy Gordon and Julia Burley of Winnetka, Ill., Barbara Burnett of Wahan, Helen Vose and Elizabeth Vose of Brookline, and Mrs. Ralph Lawson, Jr., (Margaret Tyng), a recent bride.

Plan Laborless Meals, Holiday Week-End

By MARTHA LEE

No matter what the weather, the family must eat. But do be sure to take advantage of all the modern short cuts. You really need to save yourself after the long hot spell we have all endured.

But someone says, How is this possible? We all have to eat just the same." Of course, it is possible and the family will be pleased, too. Prepared foods can be family favorites if you will only take the trouble to add your own home touch of seasoning, to make them piquant.

Here are a few of these touches that may help you to a truly laborless Labor Day week-end. These are few seasonings as handy to use and as satisfying in results as a good rich prepared mustard.

BAKED SHOULDER OR HAM

Be sure to spread the shoulder or ham liberally with prepared mustard before putting on the brown sugar and studding it with cloves for the final baking period. Make certain that you've sufficient mustard on hand for the sandwiches when that cold shoulder or ham is cut for the impromptu meal.

POTATO SALAD

We all know that home made potato salad requires quite a bit of work when you do it right. Each of us adds some little extra ingredient or seasoning that makes "our" salad differ from others. But have you ever tinkered a little with delicatessen potato salad, and it almost rivaled your own? We have been able to obtain very satisfactory results when pressed for time or determined to save extra effort.

If the salad doesn't have enough cream to suit your taste, add extra mayonnaise. Try adding ¼ cup celery leaves and parsley (of very fine of course, to a pound of salad. A cup with 2 tablespoons of a rich prepared mustard. Stir them in very carefully and what a different salad you serve to the table then, with flavor lively and distinct.

MOLDED CHICKEN

Canned chicken a la mode, canned for you can be a delicate meat dish for a luncheon. Chill a can in the refrigerator, then turn it out on salad greens very carefully so the chicken looks molded. Cover completely with a mask of Mustard Mayonnaise garnish with wedges of tomatoes and hard cooked eggs. With a hot vegetable and a favorite beverage this is a very complete and satisfying meal. FOR THE MUSTARD MAYONNAISE: add ¼ cup good rich mustard to a cup of mayonnaise, and a desired, ½ cup whipped cream.

CHICKEN AND NOODLES

You've certainly tried some of the delicious chicken and noodles that come all prepared. Did it lack flavor? Add a dash of powdered sage to this dish before heating and you add the homemade touch.

CORNED BEEF HASH

Canned Corned Beef Hash is a time saver and full of zest, heated in this fashion: Melt 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons prepared mustard in a frying pan. Add the Corned Beef Hash and brown slowly to a rich crust on the bottom. Fold over like an omelet and serve at once.

SHRIMP MOLD

4 cups cooked shrimp, taken through (1 tablespoon) fine parsley
1 cup cold water
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon paprika

Mix egg yolks slightly beaten with salt, mustard and paprika, then add butter, milk and lemon. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatin on top of water. Add softened gelatin to hot mixture and stir until dissolved. Add shrimp. Turn into a mold that has been oiled or rinsed in cold water, chill and when firm, unmold on platter.

SHRIMP APPETIZER

1 cup shrimps
¾ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped celery tops

Mince the shrimp, add mayonnaise salt and pepper, and celery tops. Mix well and spread on saltines. Garnish top with a whole shrimp. Serve mixture very cold. Serves 6.

Flyer in Fall Hats

YOU NEEDN'T laugh any longer about the tale of the 1900 miss whose spring hat was a replica of a setting hen . . . though this is a much more poetic bird, swooping down on the miniature bonnet, it still is a whole bird. The tiniest of brown felt berets with a back band to go around your curls gains zest and dash with a beige bird shooting down over the right eye. Miss Connie Read models this beauty among fall hats. For shopping information, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 4000, week-days until 5, or write her at the Boston American.

GET AFTER FRECKLES

Better get after freckles now. They are a bit weak anyway, won't put up much resistance.

Every night after the face is washed with soap and water, rub the skin with a cut lemon. When the juice has dried on apply a massage cream, give a brisk hammering with the finger tips. Wear brimmed hats. Never use soap immediately after coming in from exposure to sunlight.

Vaccinate for Smallpox

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

We pointed out yesterday the fundamental necessity of diphtheria immunization for every child entering school for the first time. Parents have argued that in infancy or for that the child is too young to have these treatments but when the school age comes along, all such procrastination should come to an end.

What other immunizations should be made at this period? We can hardly urge that a shock be necessary to speak of smallpox vaccination again, but unfortunately it is. We have been asked to security about smallpox because the practice of vaccination almost drove it, like diphtheria, from the modern world, and parents are not as strict about having vaccination done as they were in my day.

But contagious disease slips they do not die. Smallpox still exists around us, and every once in a while its epidemics break out here and there. And it is estimated today that the numerical ratio of the unvaccinated population would result in a very serious situation if an epidemic of smallpox were to start in the United States.

From such a disaster your children should be protected by vaccination.

Incidentally, re-vaccination should be done every seven years for about three times. That is to say the first vaccination should be made during the first year, then re-vaccination at seven and 21 years. After that immunity is supposed to be complete.

Philandering Husbands Just Can't Resist

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

It seems to me, after several decades' experience in answering letters which come to this column, that the philanderer is born, not made.

He can't help it any more than a cross-eyed fox can help a face of cross eyes or a hunchback. This is equally true of philanderers of both sexes, for the come-hither glance is not confined to either sex. The following letter shows what I mean:

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm an army girl and, as an army girl I graduated from a state university last June. Came home, and fell in love with a man of whom my mother and father disapprove. He's been married and divorced. He's handsome, witty, fascinating, and has had a number of affairs.

But I don't think these affairs are his fault. The women, married and single, just won't let him alone. Without being positively rude he can't turn down their invitations and the way they date him afterwards. My mother and father don't see things as I do and tell me if I marry this man I'll be home with them in less than a year's time, but I disagree.

A married man isn't the forbidden fruit that a single man is, and I am not an attractive girl. I believe I can hold him. And he has confided to me that when he settles down this time, it means settling down for good, with him, that he's tired to death with being pursued by silly flirtatious women.

I've always been impressed with your good, hard common sense, and the fact that you've never been a sob-sister. As an impartial and disinterested person, what do you think of the chances of happiness of a girl with a man such as I have described?

ARMY GIRL.

Old King Solomon, who seems to have been the super-philanderer of all times, cried out: "Comfort me with apples for I'm sick of love." But I don't doubt for a moment, after he had finished his apple feast, that he went back to philandering.

In the last analysis, my dear, it's up to you to make this momentous decision. Married to such a man such as you describe, you will probably spend your life on the heights of ecstasy and in the depths of despair. But as a friend of mine who has achieved considerable success in her own profession and who has a husband identical with the one you describe, said to me: "I prefer the marital roller-coaster, rather than plodding along the older path with a dull dub."

Which do you prefer? Your decision should be made knowing what you're in for. Any woman who marries a skirt-chaser, takes the road to the altar at her own risk. Every flutter of an eyelid is the signal for him to follow, and he can no more help the pursuit than the will-o'-the-wisp which has misled travelers from the beginning of time.

Divorce court testimony shows philandering husbands who love their wives devotedly, love and respect them more than any other woman, but they never can resist the temptation to have one more romantic adventure. And how these poor unstable creatures have paid the piper!

Here's hoping that your decision will be made not without deep consideration.

Assigned to Adventure by Irene Kuhn

Author Discloses Red Dress Tragedy

WHAT HAS HAPPENED:

Irene Kuhn, having lost her "glamour" job in Paris, goes to work on the Tribune. She meets many distinguished journalists, including Floyd Gibbons and "Hank" Wales. She covers important assignments, official ceremonies of international interest, among them the impressive tributes to the World War dead.

NOW CONTINUE:

CHAPTER 14

Red has always been my favorite color. I like it for its lusty, primitive quality, for the lift of spirit, the gaiety it gives. I like it because men like it on women.

More interesting and amusing things have happened to me in my life when I was wearing a red dress, or a red hat, or a crimson wrap. But it's a red velvet dress that flags my memory of the most embarrassing moment I have ever lived through in Paris.

The Tribune assigned me to cover the grande fete for the benefit of the new American Hospital at the Union Interalliee on the rue Faubourg Sainte-Honore one June night. The fete marked a high point in the social season and Gibbons winked at me and told me to "dress up for it, kid."

I meekly accepted the assignment although I loathed anything that smacked of society and its inanities and went home to worry about my costume while I pawed through my meager wardrobe. I had a thing suitable for the evening. I soon discovered. It was one with which to buy anything and no chance of getting an advance in sight.

In the closet was my only evening dress. It was crimson velvet, princess, very decollete with a short train. It was good embossed velvet and it was a dream.

There was nothing to do but wear it. It was all I had. So I did what I've always done in an emergency. I paid special attention to my hair, my face, my general appearance, and I put on an air.

Crimson velvet covered benches were placed under the great oak trees. Now at the beginning of the evening, on the first row, facing the temporary stage erected on the lawn for dancing, they were occupied by the American Ambassador Hugh C. Wallace and his aids and other celebrities, awaiting the arrival of Marshal and Madame Foch to open the fete.

A "JAZZY" COLONEL

At 10:30 they arrived and the 1200 guests rose to greet them at the first notes of the Marseillaise.

Up to this point I had had no time to enjoy myself. I had been collecting tales on costumes and jewels and the usual "among those present." Now, however, having finished with all the small details that are so important in a story of this kind, I had a glass of champagne and accepted an invitation to dance with an army colonel, whom I knew. Just one or two dances before returning to the office. There was time.

My colonel was neither so young nor so handsome as I should have liked, but he was a colonel, in uniform, with decorations glittering across his chest.

The colonel wasn't bald. He had no paunch, either. But he was to be brittle and seemed to creak when he bent over. This did not worry me much and I had sublime confidence in his ability to get around the floor without murdering my feet, for all military men dance usually very well. They are forced into this ballroom activity by virtue of the social demands of army life. But I was plunged into apprehension that soon became near panic when, my colonel swung me into a fast "shimmy," the current craze in Paris among the younger crowd.

"You like this, don't you?" he puffed after a few turns, for the "shimmy" is hard enough on young lungs, and well nigh disastrous for anyone over 30.

"Oh, I love it," I had jumping up and down to keep pace with him.

"Good for my rheumatism," he cackled. "That's why I like dancing with you energetic young things. Warms me up."

Now I was not equipped for this kind of thing, and I began to perspire, not from exertion, but from fear. These were the days of flaming youth, but I was still too close to my old-fashioned, conservative bringing up to be very hotcha.

THE STRAP BREAKS

But I was not shocked easily and I was emancipated to the extent of no more than one thin garment between my skin and my red velvet exterior. I began to realize, however, that the silk slip was likely to be my undoing. I had let down the shoulder straps and tucked them into the ribbon-tied slip when I dressed. Tied securely around me, the slip enabled me to preserve that last essential shred of modesty while satisfying the decollete demands of my gown. In other words, the straps didn't show.

The colonel jigged me up and down, holding me with a firm hand. However, he held me too far up from the waist to harness my sapping lingerie.

I could feel it now, wavering and bunching around my knees, getting in my way as it dropped lower and lower.

The grabs were ineffectual; so were the deep inhalations of breath. My eyes, closed in panic, not rapture, led him to believe, further that I was well nigh swooning under his charm.

"Darlin' one!" he murmured. "You're such a darling! Shall we lunch tomorrow?"

I sputtered my indignation, for he was red, perspiring, and a general nuisance by now. Besides, I blamed him and his "shimmy" cure of rheumatism for my predicament.

"Excuse me, colonel," I said, backing out of his arms. He looked at me in amazement, then down in horror. I tried to spare him and myself, but it was no go. There were too many people all about, besides, we were up on a platform above the eyes of those sitting on the grass. There was nothing to do but lift my train, step out of the circle of white silk lying like a noose around my good slippers, stuff it into a ball and tuck it under my arm.

IT WAS TOO MUCH!

All this I accomplished with a minimum of motions. The colonel almost had apoplexy when he realized what had happened. Chivalrously, he shielded me as best he could.

Through I was close to tears, the colonel's face registering, "Heavens, how could this have happened to me?" I right about faced my chagrin into high merriment. He had the look of a man caught abroad without his pants.

TO THE GRANDE FETE for the benefit of the American Hospital in Paris came France's most important men and women, among them Marshal and Madame Foch. Here occurred Miss Kuhn's most embarrassing experience. The picture, taken in 1925, shows the late marshal in civilian clothes. Madame Foch, seldom photographed, accompanies him.

"Sorry," I murmured as I left his side. I took down the little flight of steps, cross the lawn, past all that swank gathering. In the ladies room I retrieved my wrap and made a medium dignified exit, tripping over it up under my arm. And the colonel.

Naturally, I didn't lunch with him next day.

About this time I started my famous "Bumps-a-Bergdoll-bust" expedition when I made a complete circuit of Scotland in almost nothing flat.

It was a well-laid conception by the imaginative and daring Gibbons who had more confidence in my appeal than in the enterprise of any of his male journalists. Not until years later did he confide in me all that he had planned to do had I been successful. Perhaps it was just as well at the moment when I had my prize at arm's length, "Hank" Wales sitting in on the desk in Gibbons absence, spat a disputed and peremptory "come on back" over the wires, ruined the coup and broke my heart.

Grover Bergdoll was a living symbol of the "hate Germany" cult, and a challenge to every American of non-pacifist denomination. Of German antecedents, and wealthy, he had dodged the draft and been caught and court-martialed. He was committed to the disciplinary barracks at Fort Jay, New York (Governors Island) for five years at hard labor.

GIBBONS HAS PLAN

But in May, 1920, Bergdoll's lawyer secured from the War Department a curious order in regard to the prisoner. The order was wholly commonplace practice, but like everything else pertaining to Bergdoll it became sensational in the light of subsequent developments. The order released Bergdoll, under armed guard, on three days' parole, not to visit "dying relatives, etc.," as army practice allowed but to find a "pot of gold." Bergdoll had insisted that he had hidden $105,000 in gold in a secret mountain cache in Maryland, when he had been dodging the draft.

The order was carried out and on May 29, 1920, Bergdoll and two armed sergeants got into his chauffeur-driven car and headed south. By accident as they were passing through Philadelphia, the car balked and stopped, by accident, too, Bergdoll discovered that his own home stood just around the corner. He invited the sergeants to spend the night there while the car was being repaired. Next day, under pretext of answering a call of nature, he left their custody long enough to escape from a bathroom window, into the now "repaired" car, with his faithful servant.

The pair fled due north, and crossed the boundary into Canada. There they secured false passports and sailed for Scotland and finally Germany, where Bergdoll took refuge, while the eagle screamed, investigations ensued and public scandal walked abroad.

No one had ever interviewed him. And anything that hadn't been done, and was good and hard to do, appealed to Gibbons. John Clayton, a number one newspaperman, had been sent to Auerbach, Germany, and had failed. Other reporters had been thrown into jail on previous attempts to get near Bergdoll. The man's name spelled danger.

But he couldn't intimidate Gibbons—not while he had a reporter left. When my intrepid boss, therefore, heard from one of his grapevine sources that Bergdoll was enjoying a little jaunt through the Swiss Alps he concocted a merry scheme, and that's where I came in.

Briefly, succinctly, Gibbons outlined the plot. I know, now, at this late day, that about half of it was journalism and the rest of it pure devilry.

"Now this so-and so Bergdoll has got to be brought back to America," Gibb said seriously. "You're the girl to do it."

"Will he come with me?" I asked with naive incredulity.

Gibbons warmed to his story.

"Baby, when you fix him with those brown lamps of yours you'll hypnotize him. All you have to do then is get him across the Swiss border into France. We'll do the rest."

This sounded a little thick even to me. I knew all of Bergdoll's story. For perhaps the first time in my life I interposed a feeble protest to an editor.

"But, Mr. Gibbons, he's a clever man. If he's eluded Department of Justice men, the army, police, everybody. I'm not so sure he's going to walk across the border with me. I'm a stranger to him."

"Ah!" ah'd Gibb. "That's just it. You're a stranger. A pretty woman . . ."

That was just the right word. If he had said girl I'd have talked longer. But he said "pretty woman."

"Now, I'll tell you what to do. Tonight you get the train for Basle, in Switzerland. Bergdoll's been reported there. Get to meet him. Charm him. Investigate him back across the border. We'll do the rest."

"HANK" INTERVENES

Off to St. Gall I hopped. Gebhard Wellrich, the American consul there, confirmed the report and told me Bergdoll had left for St. Moritz just the day before.

In St. Moritz I came to rest in the beautiful hotel overlooking the pine-rimmed, mountain-shadowed lake. I was elated for Bergdoll had left only three hours before my arrival. I knew where he was, and I knew that I could catch up with him on the morrow, for his pants could be a matter of hours.

The one thing I needed was money as I had run out of francs. So confident was I of my success, that I dispatched a blush wire to the Trib in Paris, predicting an early victory and asking for funds and "instructions, if any."

I got both, just enough of the former to get me back to Paris, and enough of the latter to make me disgusted with everything, particularly the ineptitude of substitute editors. That was what "Hank" was for immediately after I had left Paris, Gibbons had gone on to some story he wanted to cover himself, and left Wales in charge. "Hank" had been against this entire expedition. Now, in command, he could put a quick end to it, before the Chicago Tribune got itself into trouble, and had to bail me out and make explanations to the home office. His wire said, "Return Paris immediately stop You've spent enough money stop What do you think you're doing stop Seeing Switzerland at Tribune's expense."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or grippe are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mayor Heralds Motion Picture Week Here

Mayor Tobin has issued a proclamation designating the week beginning today as Motion Picture Week, the statement coinciding with the opening today of the industry-wide campaign sponsored by the movie producers to inaugurate the new 1938-39 entertainment season, as motion pictures' greatest year.

A feature of the industry's campaign, which involves an expenditure of more than $1,000,000 with the leading newspapers of the nation, will be the distribution of $250,000 in a movie quiz contest, the major prize being a cash award of $50,000.

More than 5000 other awards will be distributed. The contest will conclude December 31.

Film Industry Starts Three Month Drive

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (INS)—The entire motion picture industry today joined in launching a color ful three months' drive to stimulate the business and aid in bringing about recovery.

A "war chest" of nearly $1,000,000 it was announced, will be spent in efforts to reclaim for the movies their position as one of the most important factors in American amusements.

All the resources of the screen will be utilized in the drive which officially begins today and continues until December 31. From the great studios in Hollywood down to the smallest neighborhood movie house, each branch of the industry will take part.

In each city throughout the country there will be a community campaign to make the public "movie conscious" with banners and parades.

Newspapers, the radio and movie patrons will tell the story from coast to coast.

The slogan of the drive will be "Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment."

Farley in Maine To Aid Brann

MADISON, Me., Sept. 1 (AP)—Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee today endorsed the third term gubernatorial candidacy of former Governor Louis J. Brann (D.) and the Second District congressional aspirations of New Dealer F. Harold Dubord of Waterville.

Farley, in the first speech of his one day tour of central Maine, said he had come here because "I am extremely anxious to see Brann elected governor and Dubord elected to Congress."

Dubord, Democratic national committeeman from Maine, was described by Farley as "an intimate friend of President Roosevelt."

Dubord is seeking the post now held by Clyde H. Smith (R.), who is seeking re-election.

Dartmouth Awaits Norma Shearer

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 1—Norma Shearer, motion picture actress, was expected here today as a guest of Dartmouth College, to aid the Irving Thalberg memorial course in movie script writing, named in honor of Miss Shearer's late husband.

The course will be formally launched next February. Prof. Feeney of the Dartmouth English department, now in Hollywood gathering ideas and material, will return here this month.

Second Child Dies Of Mosquito Bite

BROCKTON, Sept. 1—Jean Delmar Doulette, 12, today became the second Massachusetts child to die within a fortnight as the result of a mosquito bite. A Hyde Park boy was the first victim.

Howard Show At Midnight

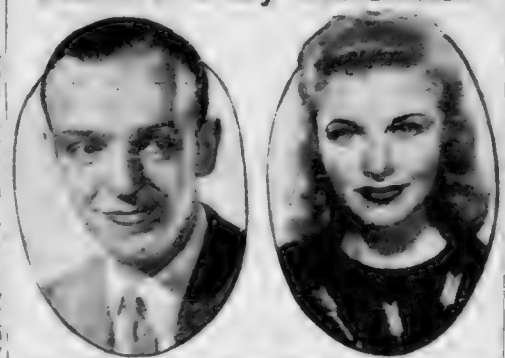
The first midnight show of the current season at the Old Howard will be presented tomorrow night, starting at 11:30 o'clock.

The show for this week's midnight performance is "Naughty Nifities," one of the best traveling burlesque shows in the country. It is full of snap, good songs and dances.

Heading the large company of sixty people are Bobby Norris, comedian, and Sherry Britton, burlesque queen of the first order.

Other Boston favorites in the cast are Lou Devine, Evelyn Taylor, Irene Cornell, Richard Dana, Ned Walsh, Paddy Cliff, Cecil Devine, Maxie Kaden and Ray Dolf. There is a chorus of twenty-five lovely girls and the usual screen program.

Keith's Stay Extended



"CAREFREE" has proven another Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers hit and has been held a second week at Keith Memorial.

Trans-Lux Opening Near

Prominent city and state officials are set to "orders to the theatre" celebrations and newspaper critics complete the guests who have been invited to attend the opening of the new Trans-Lux theatre on Tremont street, Tuesday, September 6.

Beginning Tuesday morning, the new theatre will open its doors to the public. The program will consist of all the latest newsreels in addition to a short subject.

The new Trans-Lux, according to advance reports in the last word in motion picture construction and projection. One of the important features of the new theatre is a new type air-conditioning plant, guaranteed to give ideal temperature throughout the year.

Irving Berlin Hit at Fenway, Paramount

Irving [illegible] Alexander's Ragtime Band [illegible] featuring Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche [illegible] opened yesterday at the Fenway and the Paramount after a record run at the Metropolitan.

The [illegible] is Jean Withers after a [illegible] absence in "Keep Smiling" [illegible] Gene Stratton Porter's [illegible] Rascals."

Dean Jagger is [illegible] Ragtime Band" [illegible] Paramount and Fenway [illegible] as one of the greatest [illegible] in the moving history of [illegible] has moved to the song, composed [illegible] Berlin more than twenty [illegible] years ago the picture presents a [illegible] of the famous [illegible] most popular tunes.

The cast [illegible] of the stellar [illegible] Jolson, Ethel Merman, Jack Haley, Jessica Dragonette, John Carradine and [illegible] others.

Jane Withers [illegible] her mischievous best in "Keep Smiling," a fast moving [illegible] of hilarity, romance and suspense in which the little star [illegible] the sacred sanctimony of Hollywood's major studios to [illegible] her uncle Zegan his standing as the screen's one dollar and win a place for herself as a serious and screen discovery. This [illegible] is replete with Henry Wilcoxon, Jed Prouty, Douglas Fowley and Rosina Lawrence.

Move to Twin Screens

TYRONE POWER and Alice Faye provide much of the love interest in "Alexander's Ragtime Band" which today opened at the Fenway and the Paramount after a record run at the Metropolitan.

Quiz Films Top Twin Programs

Two of the season's hit [illegible] spotted together on the new bill opening tomorrow at the [illegible] and Modern. Both of these features are included in this $500 Movie Quiz Contest.

Heading the top picture will be the latest film depicting the war on racketeers, "Racket Busters," which has as its stars Humphrey Bogart, Gladys George, Boris Karloff, Allen Jenkins, Walter Abel and others.

Sharing program honors will be "Give Me A Sailor," a hilarious film with Martha Raye, Bob Hope, Betty Grable and Jack Whiting as the stars.

"Racket Busters," produced by Warner Bros., is a gripping picture that seems to have been taken right out of the front pages of today's newspapers.

Cruise Revue At Gayety

On the stage of the new Gayety theater is "The Melody Cruise Revue," a musical comedy really cutting up to open the new stage season at that famed theater.

Heading the cast are Wood and Lee in waves of laughter, having the singing lilting melodies, Jessie Stanley personality girl, Jones and Rogers fast dancing and The Chart-ettes supported by the eight gorgeous Melody Girls.

The screen attractions plus five fast stage acts are headed by Rooney-Bremer with Charles Wrightman, Jane Brady and Tommy Lugg with Ina Bayly Ian, and "Aventure's End."

Jon Hall Gets Lead In 'Thief of Bagdad'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service
(Copyright, 1938 by International News Service.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1 — Jon Hall reaches here today. Brought back on a hurry call from his honeymoon with Frances Langford. He's due for a surprise, when called into Sam Goldwyn's office, to hear that he must be in readiness to sail for London October 1, to play the picturesque role Douglas Fairbanks created in "The Thief of Bagdad."

Louella O. Parsons

There on the inside intimate that young Hall will be called on the carpet and given a scolding for making personal appearances with his bride "on the side." It wasn't a secret that it helped Jon try to be Mr. Frances Langford.

Suddenly or not Hall is highly considered to be Fairbanks' "Thief of Bagdad" role which is to be filmed in technicolor. He is the second Goldwyn player to be loaned to Alexander Korda within the week. The other is Sigrid Gurie who leaves with Sabu when he returns to London for business. Sister.

The visit of Lord Mon. Hal Wallis and the other Warnerites to President Cardenas of Mexico was made just to be sure the film "Juarez" would not be confiscated or held up when the scenes were filmed there. The very day the boys arrived in Mexico City was the day Secretary Hull sent a sharp note to Cardenas demanding that all property owned by Americans be released without delay.

In their interview with him Wallis pointed out that "Juarez" is a glorification of the Mexican patriot and that the picture will be one hundred per cent complimentary so there is no reason why the government should be concerned.

Chatter in Hollywood: The pretty girl who has been seen here and there with Richard Arlen is Virginia Grey, MGM stock actress. Ever since Jekyll and Dix decided to separate he has been devoting himself exclusively to this attractive girl who played a "Follies" beauty in the Ginger Ziegfeld. Yesterday Mervyn LeRoy assigned her to a part in "Dramatic School," Luise Rainer's picture, after a test that was better than merely good.

A line or two: William Wyler who was supposed to have drowned on the Normandie yesterday didn't! He's still in Europe though Sam Goldwyn was expecting him this week for conferences on "Wuthering Heights." At conclusion of sprained ankles on the Warner lot: First Anita Louise and now Glenda Farrell fell yesterday and is holding forth in her suites.

Maureen O'Sullivan, Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney, Norman Taurog and John Considine Jr. trek to Omaha Sunday to help put on a real Hollywood premiere for "Boystown."

Snapshots of Hollywood:

One of the best night club customers these evenings is Robert Montgomery. Maybe that's why the rumors continue that he and Mrs. M., are drifting. Alice Faye will surprise Tony Martin with a new address when he returns for his belated wedding anniversary.

She has taken the Oscar Hammerstein house in Beverly Hills. Carole Lombard selecting antique leather coal and other knick knacks at the army and navy store for a week end hunting trip. She leaves with the Alex Leydens, Clark Gable and Norris Goff for the opening of the U. S. Senate.

Hedda Hopper feels for Hedy Lamarr's spend her vacation with Louella Parsons and put an end to the rumors of the two stars. Martha Raye's ex-husband is now the hospitalized result of an operation on a broken vertebra. Lucille Ball's ex-husband Desi Arnaz is back on the "Three Waves" set. John Barrymore looking like a frozen codfish in a fur coat at ringside the Trocadero premiere.

Jeanette MacDonald confirmed every night at various studios. Lew Ayres is fighting to keep his mother Mrs. Jack Wilson who returns to London with her sister Isabelle Tyrrell. Irene Wilde that Fireside now has a population six times its normal size with two of Missouri turning out to see a movie company at work. That's all for today. See you tomorrow.

'Carefree' Held Over

Because of the enthusiasm with which "Carefree," has been received this newest of the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers musical triumphs will be held over for a second week at the Keith Memorial, according to an announcement by Manager Benjamin Domingo.

Smashing "Tre Rackets" remains as the accompanying feature.

The shenanigans of a psychiatrist to free a friend's fiancee from her fixation to a rival actress is the theme of "Carefree." However the scheme runs into all manner of unforseen difficulties when the patient finds herself in love with her doctor instead of with the man she's supposed to marry.

Hilarious complications involving hypnotism, a secret-stealing match, legal injunctions, trenking, ride a clutch and the wrecking of a bullet-wide radio program are among the comedy highlights.

Ralph Bellamy heads the talent supporting cast which includes the Broadway favorite Luella Gear, Clarence Kolb, Franklin Pangborn and the new "Fast Back Carson."

"Smashing the Rackets" provides an intimate look behind the scenes of an organized racketeering ring.

'Three Blind Mice' At Keith Boston

On the screen of the air-conditioned Keith Boston Theater, beginning today and ending Saturday are "Three Blind Mice" starring Loretta Young and Joel McCrea and "Gun Law," a story of Arizona during the bold '80s. Featured in the cast are George Cleveth, Ida Lupino and Jack Whiting.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE FILM AT UPTOWN

Shirley Temple in "Little Miss Broadway" will be the top feature on the bill of the Uptown theater for the week starting tomorrow. Included among the supporting players include George Murphy and Jimmy Durante.

Mr. Motz Takes A Chance" starring Peter Lorre is the comedy attraction.

Market Dip Reminder of Realities

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University

EAST JAFFREY, N. H. Sept. 1 — The recent setback in commodity and security markets and the attendant increase in doubt concerning the business future, have their value.

They may prove to be temporary, but they at least serve to keep us in touch with the realities.

Among the realities today, here as well as elsewhere, are uncertainty, fear and blind experiment. We cannot be sure. There is no general acceptance of rules or standards. There is no generally recognized measure of value.

These things, we admit, are true in Germany, or Russia, or some other foreign country. But too many of us do not realize the fact that they are true in our own country.

Not only are we inevitably affected by foreign conditions, but our own people have become so dependent upon "the government," and so obsessed by dreams of "security" work and big "security," that our forefathers would not know them.

This is why some keen observers doubt that much business recovery can occur this year. It is why all observers recognize that "recovery" now depends abnormally upon stimulants from Washington. Throughout the world, I see the following:

False hopes, or "wish-thanking."
Greed and delusions of grandeur.
Quarrelsomeness and brutality, arising from an inferiority complex.
Demagoguery, based upon the foregoing, which makes all worse by feeding the people on promises and Utopian schemes.

U. S. Calls New Business Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — Exhorting American businessmen to suppress their "jitters" over the grave international situation, Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper today announced plans for further conferences between government and business leaders to chart a course for recovery.

The commerce secretary asserted:

"To what extent this scare is going to affect business, both domestic and international, we can't yet tell. I do believe that, while we should keep conscious of the great problems that exist abroad, we should talk peace.

"I think it will be better if American business would think less of the jittery effects of war."

Roper said the business advisory council, at its next meeting, probably in October, will make plans for a general economic parley to be attended by top-ranking business and industrial chieftains and New Dealers.

Corn 'On Hoof' Offers Profit

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—Farmers who market their corn "on the hoof," and most of them do, figured today they stand a good chance of disposing of much of this year's big corn crop profitably.

Throughout the corn belt, farmers are concentrating on heavy feeding schedules of beat animals on the premise that factors are favorable for converting low priced grain into cash through hogs and beef cattle.

Commodities Are Favored

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

Some of the important commodity services are advising their clients to institute a buying program on a wide range of items. Most temper their bullishness by cautioning that each individual commodity must be considered on its own merits.

Good News

The New England Council's index of business activity shows that this section experienced an 11 per cent gain in July over the preceding month. The increase compares with an 8 per cent gain in industrial production for the United States for the comparable months.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—Tentative forecasts point to probable fourth quarter output of between 750,000 and 800,000 cars and trucks for the automobile industry. While this will be under the same period of 1937 it will be the best quarterly figure reached by the industry this year.

WALTHAM, Sept. 1—The Waltham Watch Co., which virtually suspended business last June, has recalled approximately 1000 workers to begin filling incoming Christmas orders.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1 — The real income of "Mr. and Mrs. Average Consumer" increased for the first time since last August in July, according to a monthly study of what people get and spend, made by the Investors Syndicate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—Major engineering construction awards for August were 9 per cent above the preceding month, and 39 per cent above August 1937. These figures compiled by the Engineering News-Record are the best for any August since 1930.

As a result of contra-seasonal stepping up operations the paper industry is now operating at about 75 per cent of capacity, according to Poor's Stock Reports which adds indications point to further substantial gains in operations during the remainder of the year.

Business is on the comeback trail in New England, a survey by the Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston revealed today. The general level of business conditions was slightly higher in July than in June, but was still below the July, 1937 mark.

Boston Wool Inquiry Broadens

Inquiries for wool were inclined to broaden on the Boston market today. Small quantities of wool were moving more freely than in the early part of the week. Limited quantity of graded territory wool have recently been moved at steady prices compared with last week's quotations.

Graded French combing lengths fine territory wools brought around 65 cents, scoured basis. Graded French combing lengths, half blood, territory wools moved at around 60 cents, scoured basis. Combing ¾ blood territory wools were sold at 58 to 60 cents, scoured basis.

NEW EXCHANGE FIRM

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (INS) — The New York Stock Exchange firm of Fuller, Rodney & Redmond will begin formal existence today. The firm's main office is at 44 Wall street and branches are located in Chicago, Boston and Albany.

But this hardly detracts from the optimistic tenor of their letters [illegible] it has always been true that certain things are in such a poor supply demand ratio that it is impossible for them to join in a general upturn.

In general commodity prices have moved along step by step with the equity markets but they have not attempted to assume the leadership. This is generally regarded as a healthy sign that it indicates a freedom from speculation on boom talk and beliefs.

Another and timely observation [illegible] not letter writers [illegible] was that the war impended commodities were particularly sensitive while stocks were not. Right now [illegible] are not stressing the concern of the markets and take what possible their profits [illegible] will be appreciated.

NOTHING DONE OR SAID

If we except the first session of the week it can be truthfully said that the market so far has done nothing and said nothing which provides a clue as to its next important move. Neither rallies on small volume nor sharply divergent price moves in dull trade can be depended upon. Their meaning is too deep and while subsequent developments clarify their meaning contemporary ideas are largely speculative.

In a general way the market at present is probably harboring something of a stale long account. One, on a proportionate basis, akin to the short interest that existed at the spring lows. Some opinion has been expressed to the effect the recent decline cleaned out the speculative positions. This we doubt on the evidence of a sharp one day decline in which volume did not reach the two million mark.

STATE ST. NOTEBOOK

It would be strange happening indeed if one session of reaction disposed of the unhealthy elements in a market . . . Rather than count on such a thing to provide the stimulus we prefer to think a new rush of buyers encouraged by sound, basic trade gains will be the salvation, if any, of present price levels . . . At the risk of being tedious again let's wait for the market to tell its own story.

Reorganization Proposed for Curb

[illegible], Sept. 1 (INS) — Special committee of the New York Curb Exchange has submitted to the board of governors of that market a report on a proposed reorganization for the Curb.

The plan provides for reduction in board of governors from 36 to 30 members, appointment of a paid executive vice president, and establishment of four major departments to run the exchange.

London Looks at the Prize Fight Goofies

News Item: London, Sept. Guy's Hospital is planning a research among punch-[illegible] what cause and effect blows about the head have on the brain and to prepare a report on [illegible] Ex-pugilists who are suffering from [illegible] will be brought into the clinic for examination [illegible]

GUY'S BECOMES THE FIRST MEDICAL CENTER in the world to show humanitarian interest in the slap-merry derelicts of the prize ring and to discover why the brain is disarranged by excessive hammerings about the head and why recipients of slams to the eyes, chin, nose and skull are sometimes rendered hilariously happy, sometimes morbidly sullen and sometimes just vacantly dull.

AUSTEN LAKE

By assembling unfortunate relicts of the slug-wars from Soho, Gower St. and Limehouse, Guy's proposes to chart the neurological ailments which generally resemble disorders noted during our prohibition era when sheep dip, brass polish, silage and similar brutal stimulants were the favorite toast of the time.

It is Guy's notion that such a research might evolve an intelligent treatment at the instant of injury instead of [illegible] homeopathic cures as hasting ammonia capsules under the fighter's nose or shooting them with a bucket sponge or filling their wounds with Mother's Seidlitz. The hospital hopes thus to educate the ring devotees whose honest mistakes have made many victims which now may be seen hobbling along on canes, or performing the wiley fighter's mumbling with thick tongue and unsteady [illegible]

Not Concerned With Prevention

THOUGH OUR CROP OF RING SILLIES is proportionately bigger than England's, due to the larger volume of our fight trade, no U. S. hospital has been curious to find out how the goofies got that way. I have never seen a caucus of our blind and sock-happy veterans but with a little study one could get you up a list of, perhaps, a hundred or more who are tap-tapping about the professional fight studios or shining the bright work in down town flea joints. Still on publishing such a list one would be open to libel inasmuch as the goofies never believe they are goofy, and it might be expensive to buy off their lawyers at $50 each, of which the goofies would get 10 per cent.

[illegible] one-sided, I find the fight doctors [illegible] in patching the [illegible] until either party is in danger of permanent injury. The doctor who, in devotion to science is quoted about [illegible] fatty condition of his patient, is not regarded as a [illegible] with the good of the sport at heart. The [illegible] who afford the patrons as near an approach to [illegible] entertainment as their entrance money entitles them. For it is a job which [illegible] and which [illegible] whether one more jab at an open wound or one more [illegible] to the skull will render the victim permanently daft.

Donovan Stopped Louis

TO OBSERVE THE PRIMITIVE BUSINESS at its fountain source, Guy's should send a clinical expedition to the next Louis or Armstrong fight to see how a six-inch punch, which appears little more than a jerk of the shoulder, opens crimson smears along the ledges of the brows or splits the lips to give the patient a leering grin.

If, in such cases as Louis's clinical assault on Schmeling last June or Armstrong's scientific hacking of Lou Ambers last month, the laboratory martyr survives the round by happy coincidence with the bell, his wounds are healed with puckering powder composed of zinc and alum which cists the flow with the efficacy of quick-drying concrete. The fighters tell me that the pain of receiving the wound is less than that of the post-battle operation while having the anti-bleed cement tweezed, a flake at a time, from their living flesh.

The doctor [illegible] to cure the victim of whatever ails him in the [illegible] the sport get a black eye by being stepped [illegible] Here, there in an advisory capacity, so that in case of [illegible] was Referee Arthur Donovan and I

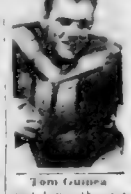
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 1 [illegible] fans are expected [illegible] Stadium to-night [illegible] the All-Stars [illegible] the Chicago Bears in a charity [illegible] the New [illegible] season.

[illegible] who [illegible] the Bears, are [illegible] in view of the [illegible] years together as a machine one of the finest in the country.



Tom Guinea

Pat Hanley's All Stars may [illegible] ever, can't be counted [illegible] The victory of the Collegians in Chicago over the Redskins was about the best [illegible] the gate could have [illegible] at Kingston today.

[illegible] are now of the opinion that if [illegible] Owen in the Windy City could turn the trick, there is no reason why they can't duplicate [illegible]

And in order to get an early jump, the All-Stars will field a backfield composed of Charley O'Rourke (Notre Dame), Johnny Howell (Nebraska), Ray Blaeyer (Boston University) and Wendell Bateman (Gustavus Adolphus).

These lads will go at top speed for about a period and then be replaced by such stellar stars as Whizzer White (Colorado), Gary Famiglietti (Boston University), Tom Guinea (Boston College) and others.

The entire club has been well drilled in the Bears offense and know just what to expect while the Chicago club, entirely in the dark as what the Collegians will throw at them.

Gene Moore's Dad, Ex-Ball Star, Dies

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Gene Moore, 51, Lancaster, Tex., former pitcher in the major leagues, died yesterday.

His son, Gene Moore Jr., now plays in the outfield for the Boston Bees.

The elder Moore played with Cincinnati in 1910 and then went to Pittsburgh.

Eva Ill, Defies Swim

Eva Morrison, the only woman who ever swam from Boston Light to Hull and who planned to try it again Sunday, was forced to change her plans today because of illness.

Miss Morrison announced she would attempt to lower her Light-Hull record some three weeks hence.

Collegians Toy With Redskins

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (INS)—A bunch of college boys who play football for the fun of it made suckers out of a bunch of college boys who play football for the money in it when the Collegiate All Stars defeated the Washington Redskins, world pro football champions, 28-16, in the fifth annual all-star grid extravaganza.

The scene was Soldier Field, Chicago's giant stadium, and a partisan crowd of 74,250, the first football fans of the 1938 season, cheered the Collegiates to the echo.

The triumph for the All Stars, coupled with a nationwide popularity poll put the simon-pures one game up on the professionals in the series. The All Stars now have a record of two victories to one for the money players. Two games ended in a tie.

Whizzer White

From first to last, the game was a treat for all of the 74,250 lucky fans who were present. Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh fullback, bouncing on his head most of the first sixty minutes. It was a direct contrast to all the preceding games in which the Collegians were clearly outclassed, but in which one score was usually enough to win.

Thrilling as it was, the game developed a major disappointment in the amazing slap of Byron "Whizzer" White, billed as the Colorado triple-threat man who was going to stand the big bad boys from the professional ranks on their ears. The "Whizzer" saw action in the second period, and all of it was bad.

'Orchid' To Showing Of Bees

The welkin will ring loud and merrily for Casey Stengel and his amazing Bees when they return home on Friday.

The old town has finally awakened to the fact that the "Miracle Man of 1938" is none other than Herr Charles Dillon Stengel the fighting manager who took an oddly assorted group of misfits and cripples and after months of painstaking effort fashioned them into an organized unit which has left destruction in its wake all over the circuit.

This Boston American office has been deluged with daily telephone calls asking for the latest results of the Bees foreign fortunes.

Lou Fette

Such a newly discovered interest is sure-fire testimony that this National League outfit of ours has warmed its way into New England hearts and has won genuine respect and admiration.

Going into the final game of the Western swing the Bees have won 12 and lost eleven games since they left the Bee Hive.

Today they're only 11½ games out of first place, just five back of the second place Giants, and appearing stronger with every day around appearance.

During their recent long home stay the Bees bowed them all except three, other won or broke even in each of the many series. On this road trip they lost two of three games with the Pirates, the only losing series in more than five weeks, and an error caused that lone defeat. Sheffield's wonderful stick work has the Bees off the edge of the current Cubs' scare.

BETTER THAN .300

Regarding one of the outcome of Johnny Lanning's performance this afternoon as they attempt to make it three straight over the Cubs in the final week from home. Each of the four Bees will retire with a better than .300 record. Stengel's and on all your stuff.

There are many reasons for this purpose, and Stengel's half dozen favorites.

But they all boil themselves down to Stengel, the man who came here with two strikes on him, the man in whom President Bob Quinn placed his faith and the man whose leadership easily surpasses that of the highly rated Bill McKechnie who preceded him.

Stengel has more than educated Lenny Quinn's judgment when the latter was the only man in Boston who thought Casey's coming here wasn't something in the nature of a major mistake.

The Bees won't win any pennant this year. They may or may not land in the first division or wind up there although their chances appear better daily.

No wonder the talk is going the rounds for a "Casey Stengel Day." No one ever deserved honor more.

Alice Belanger, of United Shoe, Beverly, and her twin sister, Lucille will meet in the final round of the girls' state junior golf championship at the Weston Golf Club at 9:30 tomorrow morning.

In the semifinal round today Alice defeated Martha Wiswall, of Wellesley, 5 and 3, while Lucille defeated Ann Gormley, of Hathorne, 4 and 3.

Alice was medalist in the tournament with an 86. She is the defending champion.

Sox to Bid Adieu

Ten Home Games Left

By WALTER KILEY

Of the 15 games left to the Red Sox schedule only 10 of them are to be played at Fenway Park.

The fact that 2" of them are to be contested on other fields where the Yawkey baseball fortunes have been at stake all year means that the Sox will be hard pressed all the way to hold on to the present second place standing.

Winning at least three out of the [illegible] and final game series against the St. Louis Browns today, the home forces quit town this evening heading into a set of important affairs with the Yankees at New York, including a double-

"I studied music for many years," he tells us. "I took piano lessons for six years and vocal for several more. And I think I know music as well as a lot of fellows going through the gestures of leading name bands right this moment.

"I don't know if anything will develop. But if we can round up a good outfit I might have a lot of fun before the winter season is over."

Today Buck Newsom and Fritz Ostermueller, the Browns' lefty, will be pitching. Newsom is one of the [illegible] pitchers for the Browns since he quit those stories and threw [illegible] taken in with the boys. Wes [illegible] errors.

"If Newsom was with a club like the Yankees he would have 25 victories before the year is out," said Gabby Street, Browns' manager.

THE ACCIDENT RATES OF PUGILISM are high and all young pugilists accept them for the sake of the maximum rewards, also high for the few at the top of the ladder. So there is no more chance of halting prize fighting than there is to outlaw fancy diving from high platforms, the auto racing at Readville, steeplechase riding or the many other pursuits in which the individual assumes certain risks in return for certain opportunity.

Thus the best that Guy's can hope for at the end of its inquiry is the conclusion that punches about the chin, eyes, ears and skull are not conducive to health or to be recommended to hygiene. And the ring doctors here and abroad will continue to get free seats just under the scaffold and draw pay from the state while trying to decide how to prolong the action just short of manslaughter. It is something like shouting at a man who has jumped from a high building, "Stop falling. You might get hurt."

With football the leading school boy conversation of the day and a large number of schools working especially for the coming season, the above named schools are still without a coach to direct them.

As each the Captain crew opened up their season Tuesday with tentative coaching staff the Powers don't know who will get their opening call.

Everything is in a turmoil at Everett. The Physical Education committee and the school board were to have met yesterday to name a new coach but as a new physical department head had postponed the conflab until next Tuesday. At the conclusion of the meeting it will be definitely settled who will succeed Clarence N. Amatt who served the school in both the above capacities as well as baseball coach for the past 25 years. Amatt had to give up the job last January because of illness.

Between today and Tuesday the Physical Education committee will [illegible] a few names from about 4 [illegible] and it is whispered will take [illegible] Secretary and hand them over to the school board for the final [illegible]

MONEY SPOT FOR BEES

And, now the battling Bees are only five games out of second place. They are winning more consistently than any club in the National League and due to the fact that they have a long stay at home this month, have almost an even chance of finishing in the money. What a feather that would be in Casey Stengel's beret . . .

The second guessers popped Gabby Hartnett for allowing Bill Lee to pitch to Bob Garms, who had made three hits, with first base open. But, the Cub manager had no alternative, with Tony Cuccinello the next hitter. Along with knocking off opponents with a marked and most pleasing regularity, the Bees are getting plenty of "cocoanuts" on this trip, for they have been playing to large crowds in every Western city . . . Bill Harris, with the efficient aid offered by Bobby Doerr, who made three of the seven Boston hits, eased the Red Sox back in the games won column yesterday. He pitched smart baseball, with the exception of that 2 and 1 inside pitch to Harland Clift, which the Browns' third sacker converted into a circuit clout . . . Big league managers should school their players on the correct way to make the play when two runners are on one base. If umpires can solve that one, players should be able to do ditto . . . Ralph McLeod, the North Quincy boy, who is now with Hartford will be a serious contender for a regular outfield berth with the Bees next season . . . The Redskins will miss Cliff Battles this season. But, George Marshall's loss is Lou Little's gain, for Cliff will prove a very valuable assistant to the Columbia coach . . . Walter Johnson, former fire ball hurler, is running for county commissioner in Maryland . . . Carl Snavely, the Cornell football mentor, has been questioneering his Big Red varsity players all summer, via the Jim Farley routes . . . The British Professional Golfers' Association would like to play the Ryder Cup matches in the sunny South next winter . . . Dave Driscoll, the Brooklyn "ivory hunter," dug up both Joe Medwick and Johnny Vander Meer but the Daffy Dodgers allowed those stars to slip through their fingers . . . Jim Tabor, the Red Sox rookie third sacker is confined to his room with a heavy cold. He receives treatments daily from the "Old Master," Win Green of Roxbury.

Soft Ball Boom Reaches Boston — Pass Up Checkers For New Sport

By JACK CONWAY

MORE HEADACHES for Organized Baseball with the boom of soft ball . . . There are 40 teams in the league now playing regularly at C. J. Lee Park, McNary Field, Columbus Park and Gillette's Field . . . Bartley J. O'Connell of the Flanagan Checker Club of South Boston, informs me that his organization is playing soft ball between moves, and he is certain the new sport will be kinged . . . In the Mid-West they have drawn as many as 100,000 persons at a soft ball double-header.

Mr. Boston

As soft ball gains in strength, I have received the following letter from Lee Rourke:

"Don't you think the following idea would show bigger results as to turning out big league baseball players than the farm system now used?

"This will 'Play and Produce' . . . Take a state that has no minor league ball now . . . Go in there and put a team in each of the eight biggest towns and form a league . . . Every player developed belongs to your organization . . . Its my guess that this kind of an outfit would prove far more successful than the farm system you now use where the teams are scattered all over the country."

What do you think of such a plan? . . . It would be difficult to have Class AA ball players on the same club with Class D players . . . Especially if the Class AA players were in a small town where the gate receipts were light . . . Many of the Class AA players get $5000 to $6000 a year.

I do believe big league baseball would benefit if there were more minor leagues similar to the old New England League which developed Rabbit Maranville, Joe Judge, "Lefty" Tyler and many more famous big league stars.

LARRY BOLVIN, one of the stars in the Hearst All-America tournament, is planning to turn professional . . . Bolvin weighs 118 pounds, and will go after bantamweight honors . . . The Providence youngster has displayed exceptional ring promise in his amateur bouts . . . Joe Di Pesa informs me that scores of crack marksmen will compete in the pistol shoot of the Middlesex County League on September 18 at the Maynard Rod and Gun Club at Hudson . . . I saw Jack Sharkey in a huddle with Felix Dursta, Brockton political leader . . . Sharkey spoke in behalf of Dukatn's candidacy a year ago, and had the distinction of attracting one of the largest crowds to ever attend a political rally in the "Shoe City."

Michael Andrian of Midland street, Dorchester can have it his own way when he claims the world's 125-pound wrestling championship . . . I cannot make that kind of weight any more . . . Andrian says he lifts 150 pounds with his teeth, and that he has amused himself at military and Y. M. C. A. camps tossing around 200-pounders . . . Once more I won't argue with the young man . . . I'd rather play golf even if I get a score of 102.

Ed Place is doing the publicity for the Brockton Fair . . . And has Paul Whiteman, Sally Rand and Tetter Totter as his top attractions . . . Efforts to get the Brockton Fair management to sponsor dog racing failed.

* * *

THESE FORMER Hearst All-America boxing champions are getting places . . . George Martin of the South End, who first gained public attention in the Hearst All-America shows, will receive an opportunity to win the New England welterweight championship when he battles the Cocoa Kid in a 15-round bout at a Gunniwin A. C. show at the Garden on September 9 . . . Martin gained the match with the Cocoa Kid as a result of his recent victory over Andy Callahan.

Tony Shucco post cards from England as follows:

"Going along fine . . . Licking everyone here . . . Will be back soon to beat Joe Louis."

The North End heavyweight signs himself "English Tony Shucco."

Johnny Rogers, who is managing Shucco in England for Dan Carroll, has Jackie Jurich, American flyweight champion, battling for the world's title against Peter Kane, official challenger, in Liverpool on September 22.

TOM SHEEHAN says Pittsburgh will send ten players to the Shamrocks . . . The local club will start training after Labor Day, and looks forward to a successful season . . . Its pre-view will be against the All-Stars in a night game at Fenway Park on September 14 . . . Some of the college stars who will play for the All-Stars against the Chicago Bears at the Brown Stadium in Providence tonight will later come to Boston to show their football ability.

Lou Gehrig, like Joe Cronin, had bought an automobile a few weeks before being awarded a new car in the popularity poll . . . Gehrig, Charley Gehringer and Mel Ott, winners in the popularity poll, are of German decent . . . The fans have apparently forgiven Hal Chase for his mistakes, and he received a scattering vote.

The Eastern States Exposition will be held at Springfield from September 18 through September 24 . . . I have received a season pass from John P. Curley, graduate director at Boston College, to attend all practice sessions at Alumni Field . . . Which would make it appear that the rule about newspapermen being barred from football practices at the Heights has been tossed right out of the window . . . When football practice is kept secret, the games are sometimes kept secret as far as the sports pages are concerned.

You cannot expect football writers to get excited about routine press releases . . . Unless the writers have an opportunity to see the players in action, they won't write about them . . . The average college press release is about as interesting as the death notices.

Terry Backs Traynor in Row With Umpire

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates' front office forwarded a written protest today to National League President Ford Frick against a decision by Umpire Ziggy Sears in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader with the Giants.

Manager Pie Traynor said he had "no intention" of backing down on his announcement that the game, which went to New York, 6-5, was finished under protest.

The disputed play came in the sixth inning, provoking a 15-minute argument in which a throng of 43,586 — the largest regular season gate in Forbes Field—joined in howls of derision aimed at Sears.

YOUNG ON BAG

With runners on second and third, Pirate Pitcher Russ Bauers hit to Giant Shortstop George Myatt, who threw the ball to Catcher Harry Danning. Gus Suhr, boxed between third and home, raced back to third, but Pep Young was on the bag. Danning touched both men. Young was obviously out, under the rules, since Suhr had prior possession of the bag. But after a pause Suhr walked off the bag, and Danning touched him again, Sears ruling both runners out.

Suhr claimed Sears called him out while he was on the bag and that is the reason he left it.

Here's what the principals had to say:

Umpire Sears—Young was out. I didn't call Suhr out until he left the bag.

Giant Manager Bill Terry—My player, and he doesn't lie, told me that Sears called Young out first.

SEARS WRONG

Traynor—Both Suhr and Young claim that Sears called Suhr out at third when both were standing on the bag. Suhr said he walked off the bag after he had been declared out. And then after listening to a lot of protests and taking cues from the other umpires he (Sears) finally decided that Young was out.

The enraged Pirates came back in the nightcap with a crushing 12 to 2 triumph.

The last of the four-game series will be played today.

Devine, Liotta Win at Dilboy

Pat Devine easily moved in the Diamond Ring finals at Dilboy Field, Somerville, by knocking out Chuck Prendible of Charlestown in the first round of the big bout of the evening.

Prendible was no match for the Cambridge boy and after the first few seconds it was just a question of time.

Leo "The Lion" Liotta established himself as a real threat by taking the 135-pound class with ease. He drew a bye in the first, won second by a K. O. and then took the final by default when Art Morris of Boston was unable to continue.

118—Dick Volpe, Wakefield, defeated Guy Villaflane, Medford, 3.
126—Dan Correira, Providence, defeated Nick Sullo, East Boston, 3.
135—Leo Liotta, Somerville, defeated Art Morris, Boston (default).
147—Gene Boudin, Providence, defeated Joe Mannarino, East Boston (default).
160—Lou Vivolo, Boston, defeated Ed Patchell, Boston, 1.
Heavyweight—Pat Devine, Cambridge, defeated Chuck Prendible, Charlestown, 1.

Flaherty

Finds Excuse

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—Coach Ray Flaherty had only praise for the college all-stars who defeated his professional Washington Redskins last night, but felt the loss was due mainly to an injury suffered by Slingin' Sammy Baugh.

Baugh injured his foot 16 days ago and was not fully recovered when he entered the game at Soldier Field. On the first play the foot was severely wrenched again. Baugh was hit hard when he attempted to cut inside right tackle.

'Southie' Trails In Title Races

SOUTHPORT, Conn., Sept. 1—The Pequot Yacht Club's crew, defending champions, held a slight lead today as the eight boats competing for the National Junior Yachting title and Sears Cup lined up for the final two races in the series of eight.

The Pequot crew, consisting of Skipper Bob Grodon, Rod McNeil, Jr., and Howland (Chuck) Hayes, rallied yesterday to win the afternoon or sixth race after finishing third in the morning brush to run its total point score to 33¼.

Five other boats are right on the champ's heels, however, leaving it up to today's results to determine the victor.

Picking up plenty of ground by taking first and second places yesterday, the Richmond County crew of Staten Island moved in on the runner up spot with 30½ tallies. Trailing within overtaking distance were South Boston, Mass., 29½; South Shore, Milwaukee, Wis., 29¼; Watch Hill, R. I., 29 and Annisquam, Mass., 28.

Martin Meets Cocoa Kid for N. E. Fight Title

Georgie Martin, pride of Castle Square in Boston's South End, whose amazing march up the fistic ladder has awakened new interest in boxing in this vicinity, gets his first chance to win himself a title in the next ring show of the Goodwin A. C. at the Boston Garden, Friday night, Sept. 9.

Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Goodwin club has signed Martin to fight Cocoa Kid from Hartford, Conn., New England welterweight champion, in the 15-round feature of the coming show with the N. E. crown involved.

George Martin

It's the first 15-round fight in Boston for many years, the last being when Handy Andy Callahan just missed winning the world's welterweight championship from Vince Dundee in a classic at the Boston Garden.

Strangely Martin punched out a neat victory over this same Callahan in order to pave his way into a shot at the N. E. crown in the 15-rounder against Cocoa Kid. Matchmaker Valenti has been given sanction by the boxing moguls for a 15-round battle, since the title is in the balance.

Cocoa Kid has held the N. E. welter title longer than any previous champion or any other N. E. title-holder.

Money Worries Over

Armstrong Set Financially

This is the twelfth in a series of thirteen articles by Henry Armstrong, called by experts "the greatest fighter for his weight" in the ring today.

By HENRY ARMSTRONG

(World Featherweight, Welterweight and Lightweight Champion)

Copyright, 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

After I beat Ross for the welter title, the one outstanding match left was the one with Lou Ambers for his lightweight title, and that was quickly arranged without any difficulty.

Manager Weill didn't demand an exorbitant guarantee this time and took the fight on a percentage basis. And so I was signed for a lightweight challenge for my very next fight after winning the welter title.

What I want to do now is to go to Europe—to London, Paris and Rome, not only to fight the best they've got over there, but also to see those cities. I've never been abroad and have been eager all my life to travel. Mr. Mead is trying to land some European matches now, and it looks certain that we will make a tour.

WILL BATTLE GARCIA

I will fight as often as matches are made and defend my titles as frequently as outstanding challengers show up. I shall defend my welterweight title against Ceferina Garcia in New York.

During the last two years I have been constantly on the go, probably the most active fighter in the business, sometimes lacing on the gloves as often as twice a week. While I don't expect to continue at that terrific pace, I don't propose to take any extended layoffs. I need plenty of action and I want plenty of it so that I won't get ring rusty.

Also, the one way for a fighter to make money is to keep his name out there in front and get it while he is young. I'm 25 years old now and, therefore, within a few years of the finish of my career. There won't be any money in it for me when they begin belting me around, and when that time comes I will hang those gloves up, happy in the knowledge that I have saved for the rainy day and that they won't have to put on any benefits for me.

GRATEFUL TO BOXING

As I said in the beginning I know what it is to fight your way out of utter poverty. But my family will never experience it. My investments in annuities will see to that. Meanwhile I'll give my services free of charge as often as anybody has need of me for a legitimate and worthwhile benefit. I never have turned anybody down and I don't expect to start now.

I'd like to say this about boxing itself: It can be mean and low and degrading if you let it. For me it was a salvation. When I finally rip the gloves off for the last time I will do it not unmindful of the fact that, but for boxing I still probably would be a day laborer at St. Louis.

Henry Armstrong tells of his title bout with Lou Ambers in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

Two Records Go In Syracuse Meet

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 1 (INS) — Two world records were shattered and another equalled as the Grand Circuit racing continued today at the New York State Fair.

Her Lady tied her own record for pacing mares, covering the first heat in 1:58¼. She came back with miles in 1:58½ and 1:59¼ for a world three-heat record for pacers.

Rosalind was the other record-breaker, with a new mark of 1:57¼ for trotting mares.

Sangster Wins Mitton Trophy

The Edward R. Mitton trophy for the lowest gross score in the annual golf tournament held by the Jordan Marsh Company Sports Association for store employes went to Vincent Sangster.

More than 100 golf enthusiasts from the store, all ranging from dubs to "Bobby Jonses," teed off at the Sandy Burr Country Club in Wayland.

Other awards in the form of merchandise were presented to winners in the various classes.

The committee in charge of the successful tournament comprised A. E. Finney, Walter London, Everett Shores, Carroll Burns, Raymond McCarthy, Albert Burns and Scott A. Babcock.

Yanks to Get Coast Whiz

By EDWARD W. COCHRANE

International News Service Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1 (INS)—Fred Hutchinson, sensational Seattle pitcher, who has compiled the greatest record that any youngster ever amassed in his first season under the big top, isn't going to be a Cub. No, sir, customers, according to the folks out here on the West Coast, he's going to Jake Ruppert, the beer baron of Broadway.

It isn't cricket, say the Coast critics because the Yanks, already in by a safe margin in the present pennant race, have too many top players now . . . The race is too one-sided, and, if it keeps on this way and the Yanks maintain their pennant monopoly, interest in the American League is going to slip . . . Even in New York . . . The home town fans will grow tired of so many pennants . . . Under that system there is no old time rivalry, and when you toss out the rivalry the sport dies a natural death.

Jake Ruppert

But the thing is that Uncle Jake the Brewer, has an "in" with Owner Sick of Seattle . . . It seems that Uncle Jake put Sick in the brewery business and then put him in the baseball business . . . The result is that Sick has become a millionaire through Jake's advice . . . He might be an ingrate if he sold Hutchinson to anyone else, and Sick is no ingrate . . . So no matter what the Cubs offer for him, they may not get him.

Sick is now trying to protect Hutchinson for another year . . . Thinks he is too big a box office attraction to lose . . . But he may be smart in unloading him while the price is high . . . Hutchinson, only 19. Pitches like a veteran, with perfect control and smariness . . . Knows what it is all about . . . Seldom finc a lad that young showing such cleverness . . . They call him another Christy Mathewson . . . That's taking in a lot of territory, but I saw him last night and they may be right . . . He's got plenty and if it takes as muche to buy him as it took to anare old Diz Dean he may be worth it.

I bumped into some disgruntled football fans hereabouts . . . Yes, sir, they think we've been giving 'em a rotten deal back in Chicago because Bill De Correvent, the new 'Galloping Ghost" of the gridiron, isn't a Trojan, which a U. S. C. in case you are in doubt . . . Howard Jones wanted him . . . His running style would fit into Howard's attack like Clark Gable fits into a chorus girl's party . . . But they haven't got him, and Lynn Waldorf has . . . that's the rub . . . I fail to see where U. S. C. got the worst of anything but it is easy to see where Northwestern got the best of it because a great player, without any urging from anyone, to go there, where he will be a standout . . . Just Lynn Waldorf's good luck and Howard Jones bad luck . . . But that't the way it breaks in football.

Ernie Nevers

Jones, so they say, is going to have the greatest team the Trojans have presented in many years and should climb to the Pacific Coast Conference championship in case Jim Phelan's Washington Bears do not . . . Phelan will make a real bid for tops, and the battle between the two will be a standout . . .

Ernie Nevers, Iowa assistant coach, is out here telling the folks what sort of team Iri Tubbs is going to present to represent Iowa in that early season clash with U. C. L. A., Sept. 23

Scotch Games At Caledonian

The 49th annual picnic and games sponsored by the Order of Scottish Clans of Boston and vicinity will be held Labor Day at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury.

Generally known as the "Scots picnic this day of sports will be devoted to track, soccer football, Highland dancing, Bagpipe B and contests and other Scottish events associated with Highland games in the land of Bobby Burns.

Leslie Pawson

The feature event of the track games is a ten-mile race and Leslie Pawson, two-time marathon winner, is among those entered. "Hawk" Zamparelli, Henry Donahue of Newburyport, J. Darrah of Manchester, N. H., winner of the Mt. Washington grind a few weeks ago, and it is hoped that Johnny Kelly of Arlington and Clarence De Mar will also try to win the beautiful prize offered for this event.

Then there will be the Walter Scott mile, 880 yards and 100-yard dash. Already there is a large entry list for the women's events.

Four of the best teams in New England will take part in the five-a-side soccer series. Boston Celts, Pawtucket, British Americans of Quincy and Swedish Americans of Worcester. There will be something doing from early morn till dark and thousands of Scots and their friends will attend.

Patty Berg At Essex

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Sept. 1 (INS)—Headed by Mrs. Julius A. Page, Jr., of Greensboro, N. C., reigning U. S. champion, the advance contingent of Uncle Sam's Curtis Cup defenders reached the Essex County Club today on the eve of the fourth renewal of the international golf series.

Mrs. Page, current Carolina champion, was joined by three other United States players, Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., Patricia Berg, Minneapolis, Minn., and Charlotte Glutting of West Orange, N. J.

All four joined the British players in practice rounds.

Fear Diamond Jinks

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (INS)—Though Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio and Bill Dickey, Yankee home run hitters, today refuse to comment on the chances of Hank Greenberg to break Babe Ruth's record of 60, the feeling among them seems to be that the Bambino's mark will eventually be bettered.

They won't talk about Hank's chances because they're afraid of jinxing him, or as Lou Gehrig said:

"It would put too much pressure on him."

"I think it will be broken in time," was Dickey's comment. "Why not?"

"Its a pretty tough mark to shoot at," said DiMaggio. "But it might be cracked. Anything can happen."

Rudy York, fellow slugger of Greenberg's who has 31 homers to Hank's 46, is certain Ruth's record will be broken. "Greenberg might do it," Rudy said, shrugging when asked what he thought of his own chances.

"The record's going to be broken in time," Greenberg said. "No question of that.

"Maybe when I get up to 50 I'll start worrying over breaking it. I figure I've hit a lot of homers as it is for one season. Maybe I'll do it next year or the year after."

What the Stars Did

By The Associated Press

BOBBY DOERR, Red Sox—Hit double, two singles, drove in two runs and stole two bases in 6-3 win over Browns.

JOHNNY VATTIG, Giants, and RED LUCAS, Pirates—Whittig pitched no-hit, no-run ball in three-inning relief trick to save opener; Lucas tossed eight-hitter to take nightcap, 12-3.

KEN KELTNER, Indians—Hit two homers in 3-6 win over Athletics.

ROY HENSHAW and TERRY MOOR, Cardinals—Henshaw allowed two hits, one run, in eight-inning pitching performance in opener; Moore's ninth-inning single drove in winning run to beat Phillies, 7-6, in nightcap.

JOHNNY WHITEHEAD, White Sox—Blanked Senators, 7-0, with four hits.

DEBS GARMS, Bees—Collected four hits, including the only single of winning ninth-inning rally which beat Cubs, 6-4.

HANK GREENBERG, Tigers—Hit homer, two doubles and drove in three runs in 12-6 win over Yankees.

RED BARRETT, Reds—Won debut as major league starting pitcher, holding Dodgers to eight hits in 3-3 victory.

Sissy Madden Pulls Surprise

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1 (AP)—The national girls' tennis tournament turned into an East versus West struggle today.

Going into the semi-final round, top seeded Helen Bernhard, 16-year-old New York school girl, was matched against Joan Bigler, of Pomona, Cal., while little Marguerita (Sissy) Madden, of Boston, faced Miss Margaret Jessee, 16-year-old Sacramento, Cal., student and seeded No. 2.

The 15-year-old Miss Madden scored a major upset yesterday when she downed Patricia Canning, Alameda, Calif. Bothered by slipping on the turf, the little Boston girl kicked off her shoes and finished the match in her stocking feet.

Miss Bernhard defeated Dorothy Wightman of Boston, daughter of the donor of the Wightman Cup; Miss Jessee trounced Elaine Fischel, of Santa Monica, Calif., while Miss Bigler trimmed Jane Wagner, the western girls' title holder from Cincinnati.

Saratoga Race Attandance Off

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—A total of 246,642 persons witnessed the 30-day race meet at the Saratoga track, official records of the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue revealed today. The figure, according to the bureau, was approximately 10,000 less than the paid attendance mark for 1937.

Jacobs Seeded 1, Marble 2

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Helen Jacobs was seeded ahead of Alice Marble, the national titleholder, today as the United States Lawn Tennis Association cast rankings aside and made the draw for the national tennis championships at Forest Hills, L. I., N. Y., Sept. 8-17.

Don Budge, naturally, was seeded first in the domestic men's division with Jack Bromwich seeded first, ahead of his Australian teammate, Adrian Quist, in the foreign class.

A field of 24 Helen Jacobs stars from the United States, Europe, Australia and Japan entered the big championship test. Missing was Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who failed to enter, giving as her reason a back ailment.

Among the other surprises in the seeding were the high rankings of Sidney Wood, Jr., New York veteran, Elwood Cooke of Portland and Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal.

Wood, unrankedlast year because of lack of tournament play, was seeded fourth behind Budge, Bobby Riggs and Joe Hunt, respectively, while Cooke, ranked 28th nationally, was seeded fifth.

Kovacs, ranked only in the juniors, was seeded sixth, followed in order by Frank Parker, ranked third nationally, and Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, fourth national ranking star.

Mlle. Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland was top seeded among the foreign women entrants.

Halts Ring Career

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 31 (INS)—The boxing world lost a socialite "white hope" today.

Former captain of the Princeton boxing team, Robert J. Banigan "Socker" Sullivan, member of the exclusive Dunes Club, who has earned a reputation as an amateur boxer gave up the ring and prepared to return to Princeton—at his mother's request.

Sullivan was entered in an amateur tournament at the Crescent Park Arena tonight. It was expected the socialite heavyweight would meet Tony Juliano, a youthful nonsocialite boxer. As a result the younger set had purchased enough tickets to jam the hall.

But mother's "no" stopped that. She is wealthy Mrs. Robert J. Banigan Sullivan. Her refusal echoed the protest of "Socker's" grandmother, Mrs. James Cahill, of St. Louis, Mo.

As a result, promoter was notified that "Socker" would not appear tonight. His manager and trainer, "Dutchy" McCoy, said:

"Aw, the kid's going back to Princeton. His ma got sore at the fight racket, I guess. Too bad at that. Socker might have made a champ, if I could have handled him."

Bad Check Jails Ex-N. H. U. Teacher

Because he cheated an old school chum, Russell P. Jones, "transportation expert" and former economics instructor at the University of New Hampshire, was jailed in Lawrence today.

Police said this case was the end of a trail of worthless check passing through three New England states.

Jones, sentenced to four months in the House of Correction on one of the half dozen bad-check charges, to which he pleaded guilty, gave as his address a downtown Boston hotel.

He is married, the father of one child, he told police, but he refused to divulge his family's present whereabouts.

SOUGHT MORE CASH

Jones was arrested on complaint of Hubert L. Smith, an employe of the Lawrence office of the registry of motor vehicles.

Smith told Inspector Timothy J. O'Brien and Sergeant Everett B. Dowe of Lawrence police that he and Jones had been school chums.

When Jones asked him to cash

Houses Fall; 4 Killed, 12 Injured

QUEBEC, Sept. 1 (Canadian Press) — A cliffside avalanche, loosed by violent rains, plunged down on a crowded four-story apartment house in a Quebec suburb today, killing four persons outright, injured 12 and, according to rescuers, left one boy buried in the wreckage.

At least eight other deaths were attributed to the same rains. Six persons were drowned when swollen waters washed a house into the Portneuf river at Portneuf, 40 miles west of here. Two died in the derailment of a Montreal-Quebec passenger train caused by a washout.

The apartment house tragedy occurred at St. Gregoire De Montmorency, textile factory town six miles east of Quebec where the landslide tore the year-old partly-brick building from its foundations.
